ST. AUGUSTINE

Craig Wood, 1941 U. S. open golf champion, and holder of that title "for the duration," is the latest top-notcher to forward his entry for the eighth annual National Amateur-Professional Best-Ball Match Play championship, which will cap the climax to the current Florida winter season on St. Augustine Links, March 18 to 22. This will mark Wood's fifth appearance in the competition for the $3,000 purse.

Wood will have an outstanding amateur as his partner in Mark J. Stuart, of the open king's home Winged Foot Golf Club, at Mamaroneck, N. Y., a former Metropolitan champion. Stuart, recently elected president of the Metropolitan Golf Association, will be checking in for this competition for the third time. In both of his previous starts Stuart had as his playing mate the 1935 tournament winner, Jimmy Hines, of Garden City, N. Y.

The brilliant achievements of Wood during the 1941 season, when he won both the Masters' at Augusta, and the U. S. open at Fort Worth, Tex., have lofted the 41-year-old campaigner to the top of the heap among American golfers. He and Stuart form one of the favorite teams in the coming event here.

To date, four previous professional winners of the classic have entered. They are Sam Snead, returning to defend the laurels he won with Wilford Wehrle a year ago; Henry Picard, who scored in 1937 with Frank Ford; Gene Sarazen, winner in 1936 with Mally Reynolds, Jacksonville amateur, and Jimmy Hines, victor in the inaugural tournament in 1935.

Stuart was paired with Hines in 1936, but they failed to survive the first round, losing by 3 and 2 to Orville White, St. Louis professional, and Scotty Beverly, of Thomasville, Ga. Stuart and Hines tried it again in 1937, and this time they went to the finals, where they lost, 4 and 3, to Picard and Ford.

Wood has played in four of the seven previous tournaments here, but never has gone beyond the second round. With Stuart as his partner, the U.S. open kingpin hopes to go through this month. In 1935, Wood had Gus Moreland, amateur ace of Dallas, Texas, on his side, but they lost in the getaway round to Ray Mangrum, Los Angeles, professional, and L. T. Jones, of Chicago. Wood also played in 1939, 1940 and 1941.

Last March, Wood was partnered by Frank Strafaci, another former Metropolitan amateur champion. This time Wood and Strafaci stumbled in the second round, dropping a thrilling 24-hole match to Paul Runyan and Charles Whitehead, New Jersey amateur titleholder.

Wood has been among the ranking golfers of this country more than two decades. Back in 1920, when only 19 years old, he won the open championship of Hawaii. He still holds that honor, as the tournament has never been played Le Restaurant Par Excellence

WHITEHALL

ARCH FINDS THE SEASON at Whitehall in full flower. Corridors and spacious rooms of this fabulously beautiful hostelry echo with gayety and with music. The Palm Court is redolent with the perfume of spring flowers, while Nature seems to have bestowed some of her choicest gifts on the lovely Jardin Royale where the tea and cocktail hours usually are held.

Many of the world's most interesting personalities are at Whitehall. Recent arrivals include: Lady Duveen, Mr. and Mrs. James Douglas, Miss Eugenia Delarova, Miss Eileen Walters, Mr. E. E. Steele, Mr. Arthur G. Hays, Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Fertig, Mr. J. C. Roberts, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Birch, Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Bisco, Mr. and Mrs. L. Bachman, Mrs. E. Hildebrand, Mr. George Abbott, all from New York.

Also Mr. Gordon Mendelssohn, Bloomfield Hills, Mich.; Mr. and Mrs. Harold Brown, Staten Island, N. Y.; Mr. Rob-

Burton, Mr. and Mrs. Leopold Friedman, Mr. J. Henry Masson, Dr. and Mrs. Julius Lempert, all of New York City; Miss Jeanne Loftus, Washington, D. C.; Mrs. Jessie Lawrence, Miss Fannie Gregg, Danville, Ill.

Gala evenings at Whitehall are veritable fashion shows. This season an unusually smart and handsomely dressed crowd attend the affairs in stately Palm Court.

Mrs. Cornelius Dresselhuys of New York wore an evening frock the other night which combined white satin and lace. The lace skirt featured draping reminiscent of the 80's, while the bodice of white satin had modified leg o'mutton sleeves. Her pretty young daughter, Miss Lorraine Manville Gould, wore an exquisite model of lace.

Mrs. Stanley Charles Nott's filmy black gown glittered with black sequins. Mrs. Ralph Hubbard Norton chose black lace. Miss Ann Mitchell wore a breath-taking combination of satin and lace in rich rose color. The satin bodice featured the elongated torso. The lace sleeves were long and the lace skirt swirled delightfully as she danced. Miss Mitchell wore a pink flower pin in each side of her dark hair. Miss Dolly Corbin, daughter of Brigadier General Clifford Corbin of Washington, D. C., wore a bright tropical print combined effectively with a darker shade.

Mrs. Eugene Howard of Chicago who is at the Everglades Club wore for the Gala at Whitehall, a beautiful dance frock in a bright floral design on a white ground. She draped a white fur jacket across the back of her chair. Mrs. L. H. P. Klotz wore a small floral print. Miss Eugenia Delarova wore red.

The hatless vogue continues popular at the cocktail hour at Whitehall. The pretty custom of wearing flowers in the hair seems most appropriate in the incomparable setting provided by the Jardin Royale. Miss Merikay Howard of Chicago, often wears three carnations back of her soft brown pompadour. Bridge and gin-rummy luncheons held weekly on Tuesdays are proving popular. These events afford a charming opportunity to dine and to enjoy cards in surroundings of beauty and dignity. Reservations are made with Miss Dorothy Mason, social director, and players may take their choice of games. Attractive prizes are awarded. Included among the participants in a recent cardluncheon were: Mrs. A. C. MacLaren, Mrs. Henry Joachin, Mrs. James Pennoyer, Mrs. W. T. Merrill, Mrs. William Hoyt Bennett, Mrs. Stanley C. Warrick, Mrs. E. W. Townsend, Mrs. Elizabeth Rane, Mrs. Ernest S. Bullard and Mrs. Gordon Kyle. Gin-rummy tournaments and the weekly duplicate bridge are also important in Whitehall's social calendar.

Among The Palms

ITH THE DELIGHTFUL entertainment program of the Palm Beach Biltmore in full swing, a group of celebrities arrived to add to the cosmopolitan atmosphere of this impressive hostelry.

Their ranks depleted because of the war, the Artists and Writers Association was still well represented at the 17th annual meeting of this famous organization at the Biltmore.

James Montgomery Flagg, who is painting fewer girls and more war posters, was among the notables here for a vacation and incidentally a golf game.

Maurice Collette, executive of a noted New York advertising firm, carried the banner for the literati.

John Golden—always in evidence at these interesting meets—came directly from Cleveland where his latest theatrical venture, "Theater," with Cornelia Otis Skinner closed its doors after a successful run. Golden is now working on the theater men of the country to provide free entertainment for the service men. Others in the list of notables were: George Abbott, L. E. McGinena, Philip Kobbe, Peter J. McCoy, Tom Webb, Ray Schindler, Henry McLemore, Guy Bolton, William Meade Prince, Free Painton and Fred Bohen.

Another interesting group at the Biltmore recently were fifty members of the Pennsylvania Athletic Club of Philadelphia who spent most of their time on the links of the Palm Beach Country Club.

Some of the Biltmore "regulars" have returned for the balance of the season. Two of the best beloved members of this "every-season" group are Mr. and Mrs. John F. Fitzgerald from Boston, Mass. They are the parents of Mrs. Joseph Kennedy. Mr. Fitzgerald was mayor of Boston for several terms.

Mr. and Mrs. Reed J. Bekins, of San Francisco, and Mr. and Mrs. Milo Bekins with their daughter, Miss June Bekins from Los Angeles; Mrs. W. M. Byrnes, Jr., and Miss Marie Byrnes, of Scarsdale, New York, are among those enjoying the season at the Biltmore.

Climaxing a gay and successful season has been the increasing popularity of Bob McGrew and his big name band, who play both at the popular cocktail hour in the Cascades Lounge and later for dancing. One of the unusual features of Biltmore entertainment is the semi-classical concert given by McGrew following the Sunday night buffet in the gorgeous Crystal Room.

Volunteers for Victory Prove Their Worth Under Fire Here

ALM EEACH'S own Volunteers for Victory, under Mrs. Henry R. Rea, gave a convincing demonstration recently of the value of their training in the various branches of home defense, when they rallied like clockwork to their posts, at a moment's notice recently, to give aid and hospitalization to the survivors of a railroad wreck south of the resort in record time.

Every branch, from the Nurses' Aids at the Good Samaritan Hospital and the entire staff of this medical center, to first aid workers, canteen units and the entire set-up which was created for war and other emergencies, came through beautifully to accomplish one of the finest jobs ever turned out at a similar accident.

According to Mr. Earl C. H. Pearson, superintendent of the Good Samaritan Hospital, the accident (which resulted in a surprisingly small number of casualties due to the splendid efficiency of the train crews and the volunteers who rushed to the scene of the accident), was an excellent demonstration of what the hospital and its correlative organizations can and will do in the event of much more serious emergencies.

"The leaders and workers in the various branches of Volunteers for Victory may well be proud of the fine spirit and workmanlike efforts demonstrated during this emergency" he said relative to the part played by resorters in doing their bit.

"Of course, being at the hospital where I had a better opportunity to observe the conduct and efficiency of the Nurses' Aids class under Mrs. Robert Huntington," he continued, "I can give a better account of this branch of emergency activity than I could of the work that took place at the scene of the wreck."

Of Mrs. Huntington and her Nurses' Aids group, Mr. Pearson said that each and everyone of this group had responded like veterans and had been of inestimable aid in helping their staff of trained nurses and doctors.

"I don't mind confessing now that it is all over, that I had just the faintest bit of trepidation relative to how the young women of Mrs. Huntington's nurses' aid group would hold up under actual fire, but I can say unqualifiedly and with pride that they all came through with flying colors."

"Many of the laity are under the impression," he said, "that this branch of auxiliary nursing is just something that our resort and resident women are doing to get their names in the papers. I only wish that these misguided souls could have seen just how valuable these young women were on this day in helping out our staff of trained nurses."

Of the events leading up to the reception at the hospital of those injured in the wreck, he said:

"We received work first from the ambulance corps, then from the officials of the Seaboard. An immediate call was put in by our staff to all doctors in the area, to all trained nurses and to the Nurses' Aids."

"A special room was instantly set up with emergency material, extra beds were immediately set up and stretchers, bandages and other materials made available.

"Our Chief of Staff assembled the doctors and the entire group were dressed in operating suits and ready for action before the first of the wounded were brought in.

"The Chief acted as co-ordinator upon the arrival of the injured, determining the nature of the injuries and turning each one over to the doctor best fitted by experience and the nature of his practice, to handle that type of injury.

"There wasn't a moment lost," said Mr. Pearson, "and incidentally I might mention that every bed available had been heated by the Nurses' Aids prior to the arrival of the patients. For our part, we asked no questions and did not attempt to identify any of the wounded until they had received medical attention and were safely in their beds, as we have found from experience that in cases where shock is the primary factor, the important thing is to get the patient attended to and quieted down as soon as is humanly possible after the accident.

"I don't mind admitting that I was a happy man at the conclusion of that tragic day, for our entire personnel had acquitted themselves nobly and had given a practical demonstration of what can be done through proper training in an emergency."

Of interest was Mr. Pearson's reference to the reciprocal agreement in existence between the camp hospital at Morrison Field and the Good Samaritan Hospital which gives both institutions access to double the facilities that would ordinarily be available if they acted solely as a separate unit. In the event of war-time catastrophe this co-ordination of facilities would prove invaluable to the community.

Mrs. Joseph Frederick Gunster and Mrs. Margaret Emerson, who head the Canteen Division of the Volunteers for Victory in Palm Beach, also did outstanding work during this emergency. They headed a group who manned station wagons with food and hot coffee to drive to the scene of the wreck. They and their assistants worked in a cold driving rain until almost 10 o'clock that night feeding and giving hot coffee to 300 workers, after having assisted at the station earlier in the day with the injured and the survivors.

Among the volunteer workers who did outstanding work on this expedition of mercy were Mrs. Henry J. Topping, Jr., Mrs. Henry Dodge, Mrs. E. Coe Kerr, Mrs. Ralph Hardin and Officer Jack Smiley of the Palm Beach police force.

It was raining so hard that it was impossible to build a fire to boil the water to make coffee, so this group used a burning coach to make a fire for their coffee.

Mr. Hugh Dillman, president of Volunteers for Victory, and Mr. Alexander Rutherford organized a complete staff of assistants at the Everglades Club to bring hot coffee, blankets and other vitally needed articles for the survivors of the wreck when they were brought to the station in West Palm Beach.

The rescue squad from Zone Ten also did splendid work. Among those taking part in the first aid and canteen work from this branch of Civilian Defense were Mr. and Mrs. E. Steuart Davis, Mr. Edwin G. Lauder, Mr. Roscoe T. Anthony, Mrs. Aksel C. P. Wichfeld, Mrs. Roderick McNeil and others.

These and innumerable other members of the Volunteers for Victory in Palm Beach did outstanding work to give the community a prevue of what can be done in the event of any emergency.

Following this inspiring demonstration of the efficacy and worth of this organization, their membership drive recently was met with the wholehearted response of the entire resort.

A membership drive that began early in the morning and wound up at 6:30 that night, brought in over seven hundred dollars and enrolled many new members, according to a statement issued by Mrs. Henry R. Rea, chairman for the Volunteers for Victory.

"Both the workers in the drive for new membership and those who manned our canteen trailer put in a long and strenuous day with splendid results," said Mrs. Rea in speaking of the membership drive.

She said that Mrs. Edward R. Shearson and Col. Harold R. Braman, who were in charge of the membership drive, were among the most intensive workers during the day, meeting at a late hour after the drive to compile the data for the day's activities.

Assisting Mrs. Shearson and Col. Braman were Mrs. Harold R. Braman, Mrs. Antoinette Johnson, Mrs. E. Coe Kerr, Mrs. George Vanderbilt, Mrs. John Randolph Hopkins, Mrs. Edward F. Cartier, and Mrs. Anja Frelinghuysen.

In charge of the Canteen Unit were Mrs. Joseph Frederick Gunster, Mrs. Margaret Emerson, with a group of assistants that included Mrs. Henry J. Topping, Jr., Mrs. Blaine Webb, Mrs. George Edward Kent, Jr., Mrs. Edward U. Roddy, Mrs. Gray Foster, Mrs. Comer Kimball, Mrs. William Q. Cain, Mrs. Frederick Morrish and Mrs. Richard Hull.

The membership drive started at the Breakers Hotel, moved to the Bath and Tennis Club and wound up at the Alibi and Ta-boo, with the guests at all of these gathering spots contributing to the success of the drive.

TIARA HANDBAGS: As luxurious and sparkling as your jewels, are the beaded evening bags at the Greenleaf and Crosby Shops. Particularly lovely is the one made of all-white glistening beads finished with a tiara-like top of huge green simulated emeralds. Another, equally beautiful, is fashioned of tiny gold beads and finished with a frame of gold and synthetic topaz. There are dozens of alluring color themes developed in these exquisite bags, and they are hand-beaded.

To erase worry lines: Elizabeth Arden has a wonderful "uplifting face treatment," which massages away worry lines and eradicates taut tension. This amazing facial which smooths and tones the skin, is especially recommended for Palm Beach, because the rich oils and lotions used, remedy damage done by Southern sun and wind. The Ardena bath is recommended by this salon as the answer to the search for relaxation; it is said to release toxic poisons, too.

PECK'S BAD GIRL: Who was the despair of her family because her clothes never matched and who has been causing so much concern among well-groomed gals, has been correctly assembled by Peck and Peck. She now flaunts a dusty pink llama chevron tweed outfit, consisting of skirt, jacket, topcoat, handbag and hat—and is the envy of everyone in the resort. Other smart colors are available if you don't go in for pink.

Baroque Pink: Is a luscious new shade exploited by Bonwit Teller. It appears in their casual clothes, topcoats and formal evening things. Highlighting this lovely color vogue is the shirtwaist frock in razor-blade stripes developed in Baroque pink and bright green; the swagger coat of wool topping a nude-background print; and a dinner dress of crepe. All exceptionally smart!

DIAMOND BOULE': Are the sparkling decorative medium for the platinum band bracelet at the Frank S. Hartley jewelry shop. These dazzling balls of diamonds may be removed and worn as twin clips to accent your dinner or formal evening gowns. Another bit of dazzle noted at this shop which may lead a dual life, is the necklace of sapphires, diamonds and rubies; the flower motifs being a pair of clips.

DEMI TASSE: According to the extensive collection of dinnerware at the Wm. H. Plummer Shop, demi tasse cups have grown in size, the latest versions being much larger than those which have been sponsored by the best shops for years. These appear in attractive patterns to harmonize with the dessert plates. Pastel tints, bright colors and white grounds with bright flower patterns, are among the newest demi tasse cups, as sponsored by the smart Plummer shop.

LIQUID SUNSHINE: By Helena Rubinstein guards against sunburn and windburn! It is a fragrant, non-greasy lotion which keeps your skin silken-soft while you tan. If you have already accumulated too much sunshine and your parched skin needs extra lubrication, this salon has planned special facial treatments, which restore natural oils and leave your complexion soft, smooth and radiant.

AIR-CONDITIONING: Keeps drugs in better condition, according to the Everglades Pharmacy; and this store is equipped with one of the newest airconditioning systems. Their prescription department, which is well-known in the resort, is presided over by three licensed pharmacists. Another outstanding feature here is the splendid array of rare perfumes; to mention a few—Lelong, Patou, Schiaparelli, Faberge'.

VICTORIAN COSTUME JEWELRY: In streamlined 1942 interpretations is part of the clever new collection of costume jewelry at Saks Fifth Avenue. Also in the style spotlight are tropical fish and flowers, animals and unique designs of modernistic inspiration; all amusingly different. It's considered smart, in fact a must, to accent your lapel, pocket, cuff, shoulder or plunging neckline with some kind of jeweled whimsy, and the more individual, the smarter.

BEIGE FOR DINNER: One of the smartest dinner dresses noted this season, is fashioned of alternating wide bands of beige organza and beige lace. Noted at Henri Bendels and made with draped, bolero-like bodice, very short sleeves and gracefully full skirt. Another dinner creation noted here, used a splashy flower print on a white ground. The new low, round decolletage and long full sleeves, topped a full gathered skirt. A wide leather belt, repeating one of the flower tones and finished with a huge jeweled starfish buckle, added the final dramatic touch.

PLAID FOR SPORTS: Imported linen in the gayest of gay plaids is the inspiration for smart ensembles in Finchley's Woman's Department. These striking outfits which come in an alluring array of color combinations, consist of shorts with matching skirt and jacket and a contrasting blouse. With these four pieces, you are equipped for either active or spectator sports; and they can be re-arranged in a trice.

FLOWER BOX SHOULDERS: A hand-appliqued flower box with a variety of colorful posies, trims a white crepe one-piece frock, noted at the Garzo Shop. This clever idea is repeated in the sleeve with tiny blossoms, the decorative motif from wrist to shoulder. The same idea is developed in all-white.

PASTEL GABARDINES: Suits were never more popular in the resort wardrobe, and Anthony's chic gabardines are ideal companions for casual and spectator sports wear. Accented with bright sweaters or blouses of contrasting color, they can go anywhere with complete fashion assurance!

ANGORA EVENING COAT: White angora on white satin, arranged in wide strips and lined with the satin, fashions a striking fingertip-length evening coat, definitely in the "different" classification. Noted at the Henry a la Pensee Shop. They are also displaying a very chic white knit braid dinner suit (skirt and jacketed-top), with tiny tailored collar and pockets of bright blue pail-lettes.

BOWKNOTS - FEATHERS - LOOPS: Are among the dozens of distinctive themes for smart clips and brooches, as designed by Milton Fuller. A bowknot of baguette and round diamonds is the epitome in dazzle and sparkle. A larger version of gold is strikingly studded with pale topaz, rubies and diamonds. Interwoven loops of gold are the medium for chic clips and matching earrings; with diamonds for the dash of sparkle. A feather of gold studded with an array of precious jewels is another exclusive gadget to give dash to your shoulder, neckline or pocket.

Resort Society Enjoys Everglades Club Gin-Rummy

HREATENING TO RIVAL the Everglades Club's famous Backgammon Tournaments in interest and attendance are their recently inaugurated Gin-Rummy Tournaments, which find the social colony turning out almost enmasse, with waiting lists of forty and fifty at each of these Thursday night events.

Game nights at the island's famed social and civic center continue to be the favorite interlude in the diverse fields of defense activity in which most of the members of the social colony are immersed this season.

The beautiful interior and outdoor settings of the club furnish the ideal background for pleasant gatherings of members and their guests. Augmenting the famed architectural beauty of the Mediterranean Courtyard, the world-famous Orange Gardens and the impressive lounges, dining-rooms and other popular gathering spots at the Everglades Club, is a veritable garden of fragrant flowers from the Sandy Loam Farm of Mr. Hugh Dillman, president of the club.

Connoisseurs from the world over marvel at the amazingly diverse flower effects created in various settings throughout the club. Each day finds a new and intriguing series of flower arrangements adding to the beauty of this internationally celebrated private club.

Reading like an excerpt from the social register of two continents, the members and guests who participate in the various weekly tournaments for a round of Gin-Rummy, Towie, Backgammon and other tourneys a la Everglades, continue to find this beautiful club the answer to the problem of what to do for relaxation after their war efforts in the community.

Among the popular members of the social colony who continue to find the weekly Gin-Rummy Tournament at the Everglades Club diverting are Mr. and Mrs. George Vanderbilt, Mrs. Margaret Emerson, Miss Grace Amory, The Arch-Duke and Arch-Duchess Franz-Josef, Mr. and Mrs. J. Gordon Douglas, Mr. and Mrs. Barclay Kountze Douglas, Mrs. Ritchey Farrell, Mr. and Mrs. Laurens Hamilton, Mr. Frazier Jelke, Mrs. Daniel Dulany Hunter, Mrs. Dodge Sloane, Mrs. Wesson Seyburn, Mr. Milton Holden, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest G. Howes, Madame Lejeune, Count de Montaudouin, Prince Gourielli, Mr. Reginald Boardman, and

Mr. and Mrs. Nicholas Holmsen, Princess Odescalchi, Mrs. Barrows Porter, Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Waterbury, Mr. and Mrs. C. Henry Buhl, Mr. Charles Bradley, Mr. Edward Beck, Mrs. Charles Easton, Miss Joanna Fortune, Mr. Maurice Fatio, Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Holmes, Col. and Mrs. William Hayward, Mr. and Mrs. Crawford Hill, Mr. Forrest Lindley, Mrs. Louis Mendelssohn, Miss Suzanne Morris, Mrs. George Luke Mesker, Mrs. Lawrence Nelson, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Parish, Mrs. Eustis Paine, Mr. Archibald C. Raynor, Col. and Mrs. Latham Reed, Miss Lucy Saunders, Mr. Edmund Sheedy, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Sheridan, Mrs. Paul Timbal, Mr. and Mrs. Bert Winters, Mrs. Frederick Wallis.

The Duke de Vallambrosa is one of the more recent converts to Gin-Rummy as exemplified by the Everglades Club's weekly tournaments. Other continental socialites who are to be found at the tables each Thursday night are Count di Castagnola, Baron Wrangell, Princess Laura Rospigliosi, Mr. Andre Vagliano, Mrs. Alberto Santos, Mr. Julian Chaqueneau, Madame Lejeune, Mr. Leon Cotnareanu, Mrs. Boisserain, Princess Francesca Rospigliosi, Princess Camilla Rospigliosi, Mr. Tchilchinadze and others.

Not the least of the interest at the weekly Gin-Rummy Tournaments at the Everglades Club is found in the hundreds of spectators who mark the progress of the games and choose their favorites. Many of the members and guests entertain at the dinner held prior to the tourney and intersperse their participation in the games with dancing in the Orange Gardens to Emil Petti's rhythmic music.

One of the most attractive of the dinner parties given prior to the Gin-Rummy games at the club recently was Mrs. Margaret Emerson's dinner gathering for a number of friends. Mrs. Emerson's table was adorned with intriguing figurines decorated with a profusion of gladioli, calla lilies and other lovely tropical flowers.

Among her guests was her daughter, Mrs. Henry J. Topping, Jr., lovely founder of Aid America, Inc., which has raised an appreciable sum this season for cigarettes, and tobacco to be sent direct to the men at the fighting front. Other guests included Mrs. James Donahue, Mr. Woolworth Donahue, Mr. James Donahue, Jr., Countess Haugwitz-Reventlow, Mr. and Mrs. George Vanderbilt, Mr. and Mrs. J. Leonard Replogle, Mrs. Dodge Sloane, Mrs. Wesson Seyburn, Mr. and Mrs. Aksel C. P. Wichfeld, Mr. and Mrs. Laurens Hamilton, Mr. Milton Holden and Mr. and Mrs. Blaine Webb.

Backgammon continues to hold its own however in the affections of the club's members. Each week finds this more established tourney attracting record crowds of spectators and a capacity list of players.

Newcomers to the Everglades Club find the game nights unique, with the club's massive dining room crowded to capacity with long tables, at which one hundred and twenty-eight players are concentrating on their next move or play and hundreds of kibitzers hover over their favorite players marking the progress of the tournament.

Backgammon Tournaments at the club find such fine players as Mr. Dwight Paul, Mr. Tommy Goodwin, Count di Castagnola and other noted exponents of this game joined by experts and enthusiasts from the social colony. This tourney has attracted a large contingent from Miami's social colony.

Entered in a recent Backgammon Tournament at the Everglades Club were Mr. Frank G. Ahern, Mr. Robert Appleton, Mrs. Ward Ames, Mr. Spencer Aldrich, Mr. W. D. Bossard, Mr. Charles Bradley, Mr. Harold Barnes, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Bartlett, Mr. LeRay Berdeau, Mrs. Henry Ellsworth Bemis, Mrs. Dee Bredin, Mr. and Mrs. William Burton, Mr. Leon Cotnareanu, Mr. Arthur Cummings, Mr. Arthur Bradley Campbell, Count di Castagnola, Mrs. Henry Candler, Mrs. Irving Hall Chase, Mrs. Thomas S. Cook, Mrs. Richardson Dilworth, Mr. Clinton Sibley Dow, Mrs. Barclay Kountze Douglas, Mrs. Woolworth Donahue, Mrs. Charles Easton, Mr. George Eliot, Miss Muriel Forrester.

Also Mrs. S. Lindley Forrest, Mrs. Ritchey Farrell, Mrs. E. F. Gries, Prince Gourielli, Mrs. John H. Gibbons, Mr. Herman Huffer, Mr. and Mrs. John R. Hopkins, Mrs. Robert Hasler, Mr. Crawford Hill, Mr. Nicholas Holmsen, Mrs. John Harris, Mrs. Frederick Hattersley, Mrs. Charles Harding, Mr. Frazier Jelke, Mr. John Jessup, Mrs. Antoinette Johnson, Mr. and Mrs. Philip Kauffman, Mr. and Mrs. Robert kennedy, Mrs. Louis Kaufman, Mr. Fontaine LeMaistre, Mr. William Ladd, Mr. Forrest Pratt Lindley, Mr. George

McCarthy, 3rd, Mr. and Mrs. James McGaughey, Mr. George McAlpin, Miss Ann Mitchell, and Miss Suzanne Morris, Mrs. George H. Malcolm, Mrs. Louis Mendelssohn, Mr. Russell Maguire, Mr. and Mrs. Angus Mackintosh, Mrs. J. D. Maguire, Miss Betty Munson, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Madox, Mrs. Lawrence Nelson, Jr., Mr. W. S. Pitcher, Mrs. William Procter, Mrs. Woods Plankinton, Mrs. Barrows Porter, Mr. and Mrs. Laurens Parish, Mrs. Eustis Paine, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Prufrock, Mr. Archibald Rayner, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Reisinger, Mr. Harry C. Radon, Col. and Mrs. Latham Reed, Mrs. Edward Swenson, Mr. and Mrs. Bradley Streit, Mr. James Stewart, Mrs. Rufus W. Scott, Mr. Edmund Sheedy, Miss Betty Scheer, Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Traina, Mrs. Samuel Taylor, Mrs. Paul Timbal, Miss Ida Louise Tobey, Miss Dorothy Thompson, Mr. Byron Valier, Mr. Kyril Vassilev, Miss Robin Valier, Miss Harriet Wells, Mr. Samuel Winslow, Mrs. Edward J. White, Mr. Ira Follette Warner and Mrs. Graham Youngs.

Roche, Mrs. George Eddy, Mrs. William Buckley, Mrs. J. D. Maguire, Mr. Anthony Traina, Mrs. Paul Healy, Mrs. John Gibbons, Mr. R. Heather, Mrs. Robert Kennedy, Mr. John Irving, Mrs. Edward Swenson, Mrs. John Perry and Mrs. A. Wooley-Hart.

Mrs. J. Jay O'Brien and Mr. Charles A. Munn are among the socially prominent members of the cottage colony who play Gin-Rummy at the Everglades Club's weekly Tournaments.

Regular entries in the Championship Gin-Rummy games at the Everglades are Mr. and Mrs. Barclay Kountze Douglas of Mill River Farms, East Norwich, L. I., and Palm Beach.

Arch-Duke Franz Josef and his wife, Princess Marta of Bourbon, who are among the members of the social colony enjoying the Everglades Club's weekly Gin-Rummy Tournaments.

Mr. and Mrs. George Vanderbilt, popular members of the social colony, are among the Everglades Club's Gin-Rummy "regulars."

ARCH LOOMS as an interesting month for resort sports, with the Seminole Club Amateur-Pro tournament, March 13, the Annual Tennis Week and Club Championship Tennis Tourney being played at the Bath and Tennis Club this week and the Everglades Club tennis championships the following week.

One of the season's top golfing events, the Sixth Annual Invitation Amateur-Professional Victory Tournament, will be a two-day affair this year at the famed Seminole Golf Club on March 12 and 13, with the country's outstanding professional golfers playing an 18-hole medal event the first day and teaming with well-known resort amateurs for the second day's handicap medal play in the tournament.

Net gate receipts will be donated to the American Red Cross and admission will be by ticket only, with a limited number of badges admitting to the clubhouse to be sold for each event.

Both matches will start at 12:30 with much interest being shown in both the Professional contest and the Amateur-Pro match the following day.

Craig Wood, personable U. S. Open Champion, has entered the lists along with such former U. S. Open champions as Gene Sarazen, Tommy Armour, Billy Burke, Tony Manero, Ralph Guldahl, Byron Nelson and Lawson Little.

Other outstanding professional golfers who are expected to be on the starting tee for both events include Herman Barron, Al Brosch, Sam Byrd, Harry Cooper, Bobby Cruickshanks, Jimmy Demaret, Jim Ferrier, Willie Goggin, Jack Grout, Clayton Haefner, Chick Harbert, Chandler Harper, Dutch Harrison, Jimmy Hines, Ben Hogan, Lee Kosten, Ky Lafoon, Ben Loving, Lloyd Mangrum, Dick Metz, Tony Penna, Phil Perkins, Henry Picard, Johnny Revolta, Felix Serafin, Paul Runyon, Denny Shute, George Smith, Horton Smith, Sam Snead, Marvin Stahl, Jimmy Thompson, Joe Turnesa, Frank Walsh and Clyde Usina, Jr.

Col. Latham R. Reed was reelected president of the Seminole Golf Club at a recent meeting. Mr. Howell R. Van Gerbig was renamed vice-president and Mr. Bertrand L. Taylor was elected vice-president to succeed Mr. J. Gordon Douglas. Mr. Bert Winters was elected secretary and treasurer.

Directors elected for three years were Mr. J. Gordon Douglas, Mr. Howell R. Van Gerbig, Mr. Frederick Johnson, Mr. Marion Sims Wyeth. Mr. Milton W. Holden and Mr. Bertrand L. Taylor were placed on the board for three years to replace Lieut. Comdr. Robert D. Huntington and Brig. Gen. James B. Mitchell.

Mr. Charles Francis Coe was elected for one year to fill the unexpired term of Mr. Charles A. Munn and Mr. Malcolm G. Chace, Jr., was appointed to fill the two-year term of Mr. David Hugh McCulloch.

Annual Tennis Week and Club Championship Tennis Tourney got off to a good start yesterday, attracting a host of the resort's outstanding netters in both the men's and women's divisions.

Play is in five events, including men's and women's singles, men's and women's doubles and mixed doubles.

Raymond Kunkel, winner of the men's singles last year, is on hand to defend his title, but Peter Strassburger, runnerup in 1941 and winner in 1940, could not compete as he is in the Army.

Miss Gloria Butler, winner of the women's singles last year is defending her title and Mrs. A. Parker Bryant, winner in 1940 and runner-up against Miss Butler in last year's event, is also participating.

Champions in 1941 in the five events were: Men's singles, Raymond J. Kunkel; women's singles, Miss Gloria Butler; men's doubles, Raymond Kunkel and John Vanneck; women's doubles, Miss Jean Wyeth and Miss Gloria Butler; mixed doubles, Mrs. Elliott Maxwell and Peter Strassburger.

Mrs. Charles Frances Coe and Oscar W. Johnson won the tombstone tournament at the Seminole Club with Mrs. Michael G. Phipps and J. J. Daly taking second place and Mrs. George Vanderbilt and Milton W. Holden in third position. Trophies for the event were presented by Col. and Mrs. Latham R. Reed.

Others playing included Mrs. Guy Hiddingh and Malcolm G. Chace, Miss Ann Haskell and Tyson Gilpin, Miss Shirley Jones and John Coleman, Mrs. Ritchey Farrell and Marion Sims Wyeth, Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Dresselhuys, Mrs. J. Jay O'Brien and Col. Latham R. Reed, Miss Louise Stanley and Julien Chaqueneau.

Long putts on the 17th and 18th greens, by Mrs. Virginia Norton, Golf, Ill., linkster, won the Old Guard two-ball foursome finals for her and her partner, H. L. Willoughby, Jr., president of the Old Guard, who defeated Miss Betty Ritchie, 16-year-old schoolgirl golfer from Evansville, Ind., and her partner, John Cushman, Old Guard team captain, by the score of 1 up.

The finals teams played excellent golf throughout, rounding the turn with a brace of 44's to be even. On the in-round, the Norton and Willoughby combination won the 11th and dropped the 14th and 15th to go one down and halved the 16th.

On the 17th hole, Mrs. Norton holed out a 15-foot putt to square the match, and on the 18th green she dropped a nine-footer for a birdie three to take the event.

Mrs. A. Parker Bryant paired with James Burns, Seaspray Club professional, won the mixed doubles amateur-professional tennis round robin at the Breakers Tennis courts, with 33 games won and 14 lost.

Three games behind for second position were Mrs. John Vanneck and Frank Voigt, assistant pro at the Everglades Club with 30 games won and 16 lost.

Third place went to Mrs. Emile Schmidt and Dave Feron who won 27 games and lost 15. Scoring was on a handicap basis.

Eleven teams took part and offered some interesting tennis to members of the gallery who watched their favorites. Others playing with scores, included Mrs. F. Van Voorhees and James Kenney, 26 games won and 22 lost; Miss Bernice Tillman and Russell Leslie, 25 games won and 23 lost; Miss Gloria Butler and Spencer Love, 25 won and 15 lost; Mrs. Johnson Gensler and George Agutter, 23 won and 17 lost; Mrs. A. Nesbitt, and Frank Rericka, 23 won and 19 lost; Mrs. A. C. Rayner and Dan Watson, 21 won and 13 lost; Mrs. Frances Gensler and A. Parker Bryant, 20 won and 20 lost; Princess Camilla Rospigliosi and Bill Kenney, 16 won and 21 lost.

Gulf Stream and Old Westbury battled to a 7 to 7 tie before one of the largest crowds of the season at the Aid America benefit polo match at the Gulf Stream Polo Club.

Portion of the receipts was given to this outstanding charity of which Mrs. Henry J. Topping, Jr., is founder and president with the funds to be used for providing fighting men at the front with cigarettes and tobacco.

Michael Phipps, international polo star, was high goal for the home club tallying four markers for his side while George Kent, Jr., rapidly rounding into a top polo player, chalked up five goals for Old Westbury. Cyril Carr was referee.

OW, MORE THAN EVER BEFORE, the world-famous Patio is playing host to fashionable members of the social set, who are enjoying the delightful entertainment features offered by the management and the charming atmosphere of conviviality and gayety provided in this setting of true tropical surroundings.

The Monday night backgammon tourneys offer interesting diversion for the many devotees of this fascinating Persian game, while the Patio Party Nights, on Friday evenings always attract a host of resorters who take part in their favorite games and are presented with beautiful prizes donated by outstanding resort firms.

Balloon Showers of Hidden Treasure intrigue members of the winter colony who receive treasures from the skies floating down in the vari-colored spheres while dancing to the entrancing rhythm of Val Ernie's orchestra.

Sunday Night Beef Steak Dinner parties offer the Patio cuisine at its best with Eugene, the King of Food, providing delectable dishes for the most discriminating patron.

Featured entertainment continues to be the policy of the Patio management with Miss Adelaide Moffett, society's favorite songstress, scoring a delightful success in her recent week's engagement.

Entertaining with a large dinner party on the evening of Miss Moffett's welcome gala at the Patio, was Mrs. James Norman Hill, whose guests included Mr. and Mrs. Worthington Hine, Mr. and Mrs. John McVickar, Mr. and Mrs. A. Parker Bryant, Mrs. J. Nevitt Steele, Mrs. Anja Frelinghuysen, Mr. Francis Potter, Baron George Wrangell, Mr. Alfred McKelvy.

Mr. J. Schuyler Casey was host at a dinner honoring Dr. and Mrs. Frank Lahey, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Travis, Mr. and Mrs. William C. Hotchkin.

Mr. and Mrs. Lammot duPont had a dinner party for Mr. and Mrs. Elwin Evans, Mr. and Mrs. William Worth and

Of Southampton, L. I., and Palm Beach, shown attending one of the recent gala nights at the Patio.

Mr. and Mrs. George F. Edwards.

Mr. and Mrs. Julien St. C. Chaqueneau were observed in a gay group which included Mrs. J. Jay O'Brien, Miss Grace Amory, Mrs. Antoinette Johnson, Miss Mary Munn, Mrs. Stephen Sanford, Mrs. Byron C. Foy, Mr. Charles A. Munn, Mr. Charles A. Munn, Jr., Mr. M. Dorland Doyle.

Former Ambassador Joseph P. Kennedy and Mrs. Kennedy entertained at a supper party for Mrs. Kennedy's parents, Mr. and Mrs. John F. Fitzgerald, Mr. and Mrs. John Daley, Mr. and Mrs. Ted O'Leary.

A party from the Boca Raton Club included Mr. and Mrs. Austin Jennings, Mr. and Mrs. Edmund Stephens, Miss Alice Stephens, Mr. Samuel Peck and Mr. James H. Allen, and Mr. and Mrs. David Patterson.

Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Vere Smith were with Mr. and Mrs. Jack Salisbury, while nearby were Mr. and Mrs. George W. Vanderbilt and Mr. and Mrs. Nicholas Holmsen.

A group of the younger set included Miss Betty Munson, Mr. George T. McCarthy, III, Miss Betty Bell and Mr. Frank Quigley.

Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Charles Nott were supper hosts to Prof. and Mrs. E. Neus, Mrs. Henry L. Barton, Mrs. Ralph Hubbard Norton, Mrs. Stewart Borchard, Miss Ann Mitchell, Miss Dolly Corbin and Mr. Max Justes.

Another group was that of Mr. Ted Williamson, Mr. Edward Crandell, Mr. Edward Arnold, Mr. Henry Brady, Miss Norma Brady, Miss Mary Brady and Mr. J. J. Kelly.

Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Reeves, Jr., were with Mr. Chester Dale and Mrs. Joseph F. Moran and Mrs. Sam H. Harris were with Mr. Cecil Parker Stewart.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward V. Quinn were observed at an umbrella table with Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Bassett, Jr., and Mr. Joseph D. Bannon was host to Mrs. Samuel Cole, Mrs. Irene Woodworth and Mr. Harry Kelton.

Mr. Woolworth Donahue and Capt. Earle E. T. Smith were present with Mrs. Brice Pinder and Miss Ruth Cottier.

The world-famous Patio's initial Fashion Promenade of the season drew much admiring comment from the many members of the smart resort colony on the occasion of last Wednesday evening's gala.

Angotti, well known stylist and designer, presented a mid-season showing of fashionable resort clothes, with Leaf's of Whitehall, noted furriers, sharing the spotlight with a portrayal of the latest styles in luxurious furs.

Charming models appeared in the latest styles of active sports, casual and formal evening wear, supplemented by beautiful furs of cape and finger-tip lengths.

Diversified styles offered by Angotti included slacks, patio pajamas, golf and tennis clothes, afternoon prints, street length cocktail dresses, dinner and formal evening gowns.

Leaf's presented finger-tip length jackets and capes in white fox, white ermine, baum-marten, stone marten, platina fox and pedigreed silver fox. Harmonizing hair-dos were by Cluzelle and make-up by Helena Rubenstein.

This marks the first of more delightful fashion shows to come in accordance with the policy of the Patio management to provide the best in entertainment at all times for its patrons.

The progress of the season is well marked at Ted Stone's popular and fashionable Ta-boo with scores of socialites and resorters in luncheon and dinner parties, and the smart cocktail hours always throughd to capacity—when a handsome cross-section of the Palm Beach social scene may be seen against Ta-boo's tropical setting.

Ta-boo's French cuisine is of such a high order that many have found it wise to make reservations for the delicious luncheon-buffets. Immediately following each day's cocktail hour, charcoal-broiled dinners are served from the well-known aluminum wagon-broiler to hosts of guests. It is the gay and glamorous cocktail hour, however, that remains a favorite to a large number.

Familiar Ta-boo patrons often entertaining at luncheon or dinner include Mr. Charles B. Wrightsman, Mr. Gunnar Steen, and Mr. Dwight Paul. Mrs. J. Jay O'Brien was noted in Ta-boo the other day with Mr. and Mrs. Julien Chaqueneau. Princess Camilla Rospigliosi was at luncheon recently with Baron George W. Wrangell, Mrs. Earl Dodge, Mrs. James N. Hill, Mrs. J. Nevitt Steele, Mr. Paul Phelan, and others. Prince and Princess Alexis Obolensky are often seen together.

Host at cocktails one day last week was Mr. Henry S. Howard who entertained Miss Carolyn Trippe, Mr. George Bagby, Miss Marguerite Caperton, and Mr. Joseph Kloman. Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Stemmler and Mr. Schuyler A. Orvis were an attractive threesome recently.

When they are up from Delray Beach, the Arnold Winfield ("Chip") Chapins usually drop into Ta-boo. An interesting cocktail party was held the other evening and included Miss Nedenia Hutton, Miss Joy Plummer, Mr. George T. McCarthy, 3rd, Miss Betty Munson, Miss Eleanor Neill and Mr. Frank Quigley. Mr. and Mrs. Robert Uihlein are in Ta-boo occasionally and were noted at luncheon the other day with Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Rainford and Miss Barbara Uihlein. In another luncheon group were Mr. and Mrs. Bertram Taylor, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Francis Coe, Mr. and Mrs. Bushnell Hyman and Mr. Maurice Fatio. Mrs. Montaigu La Montagne and Mrs. John M. Gray were at a small lounge table the other afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Horace E. Dodge lunched with Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Culver recently. Mrs. Ashlyn Draper and Mr. Alfred McKelvin were together one day last week. A familiar threesome are Mr. and Mrs. Frank Valier with Mr. Byron Valier. A distinguished luncheon twosome was composed of Mrs. Arthur Somers Roche and Mrs. Blanche Clark.

Others often seen in Ta-boo include Mr. and Mrs. Murray Hoffman, Mr. and Mrs. Ernst Lehmann, Mr. and Mrs. William Rabe who entertain frequently at dinner, and Messrs. Charles and Laughlin Alexander.

As the Florida season nears its height, the South Ocean Club is more and more popular as a rendezvous for smart dinner and supper parties. Winter colonists from Palm Beach and nearby resorts fill the club every night to dance to the entrancing music of Gus Lazaro's Bahamian Club Orchestra and to witness Miss Mano Mersman's thrilling version of the barbaric Ori Tahiti and the graceful Hula.

Steadily growing in popularity are the Sunday backgammon tournaments in which many of the resort's best players participate. Prince Alexis Obolensky, Jr., was winner of the February 22 tourney, in which Mrs. David Paterson was runner-up. Others taking part included Duke Louis de Vallombrosa, Mr. and Mrs. Charles L. Peet, Mme. Constance LeJeune, Mrs. Frederick Wallis, Mrs. Charles D. Easton, Mrs. DaCamara Morrison, Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Taylor, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Frank H. Valier, Messrs. Biron Valier, Martin Quinn and J. F. McRee. Equally popular are the Sunday cocktail hours and tea dances, usually held on the lake terrace, and the informal dinners which follow.

Countess Barbara Haugwitz-Reventlow was entertained at supper at the South Ocean Club Saturday. On that night Mr. and Mrs. William Royster Johnson and Mr. David Hugh McCulloch were members of a dinner party there. Mr. and Mrs. James W. McGaughey entertained for their guest, Mrs. Bertram Politz. Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Bennet Dunbaugh and their daughter, Miss Joyce Dunbaugh, were noted in a party. Mr. and Mrs. Paul P. Prudden had dinner guests. On the preceding night Mr. Edmund Sheedy entertained at the club for Mr. and Mrs. Grenville K. Walker of New York, who were his guests. Mr. and Mrs. George D. Randall were hosts to Mr. and Mrs. Robert Stuart Scarburgh and Mr. and Mrs. Johnson S. Davis. Mr. Edmund E. Allyne entertained for Mrs. Frank Vernon Skiff and her guest, Mrs. Blanche Clarke.

Mrs. Arthur Hudson Marks was hostess to a large group at one of the ever-popular Dollarolla dinners. Her guests were Mr. and Mrs. Bennett Chapple, Mr. and Mrs. R. Bushnell Hyman, Mr. and Mrs. Jarold R. West, Mr. and Mrs. William Watt, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. John Hunter Witman, Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Lorie, Mr. and Mrs. John C. Jessup and Mr. John Callais. On that night, Mr. and Mrs. Abram Nesbitt, 2nd, entertained for Mr. and Mrs. Henry Townsend. Mr. and Mrs. Spencer Wyman Aldrich and Prince and Princess Obolensky had guests that night. Mr. and Mrs. Cyril J. Norton had as their guests Mrs. Walter S. Goodwillie, Mrs. Bella C. Darling, Mrs. Rudolph Henning, Mr. James E. Belden and Mr. Walter Lee.

Mr. and Mrs. Bertrand L. Taylor, Jr., of Hobe Sound, Mrs. Harold Fitz Gerald, Mrs. Maitland Alexander, Messrs. A. Laughlin Alexander and Charles B. Alexander, 2nd., Mrs. Eugene Preston Carpenter, Mrs. H. Marcellus Gallop, Mr. and Mrs. J. Arthur Mason of Gulf Stream, with their guests, the Edward Sachens of Lake Bluff, Ill., are among smart members of society noted at the club during the week.

Many of the social colony arrange to entertain at the Alibi for the soldiers and aviators at the military camps nearby, with large parties being given for both the U. S. Soldiers at Morrison Field and the Flying Cadets of the R. A. F. at Clewiston.

Among the most interesting of the parties given for men in uniform at the Alibi recently was Mr. and Mrs. E. Steuart Davis' luncheon party for twenty-two American soldiers from Morrison Field. Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Charles Nott, also well known members of the resort colony, entertained for a large group of R. A. F. flyers from Clewiston on the same day.

At a table nearby Mr. Jules Bache, internationally known art connoisseur, gave a luncheon party for his house guest and several friends. Among his guests were Mrs. William Clyde, Lady Mendl and Mr. George B. Owen.

Arch-Duke Franz Josef and his wife, Princess Marta were with Prince Michel de Bourbon, Prince and Princess Gialmi Odescalchi, Prince and Princess Alexis Obolensky, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Sidney and Mr. William Ruxton.

Picturesque Hobe

Sound Island

One of Society's

Favorite Retreats

A view of one of the beautiful fairways on the Golf Course at Hobe Sound, with a group of players

OBE SOUND, smart sister-resort of world-famous Palm Beach, continues to enact the role of restful retreat for many interesting members of the social, financial and diplomatic world. Ideally situated between the turbulent waters of the Atlantic and the calm sequestered stream that is the inland artery to south Florida, this tropically lovely setting remains a peaceful haven for the socialites of two continents.

From the decks of passing yachts Hobe Sound is a picturesque back-drop of feathery coconut trees and lovely tropical under-growth, with only an occasional glimpse of a broad sweep of immaculately groomed lawn leading to gabled, vine trellised home.

Palm Beach bound yachting parties find this stretch of shoreline on the inland canal one of the most intriguing of the scenic treats along the famous sheltered waterway. After miles of thick jungle undergrowth and trees lifting crooked arms to the sun from dank savannas, the lush green growth and oases of cultivated beauty at Hobe Sound furnish the visual highlight of this fascinating trip.

Some of the most brilliant names in the world's contemporary life have enjoyed the hospitality and privacy of this unique social colony, which is primarily designed to furnish an attractive tropical background for a group of people with congenial tastes.

To the casual motorist who breezes through this beautiful island village, there is little beyond a series of vine-covered fences and thick undergrowth to mark a break in the scenery along most of the boulevard.

Intriguing glimpses are obtained of winding roads and an occasional rustic bridge leading away into the jungle from the macadam highway that divides the island into seaside homes and lovely rambling estates bordering on Florida's beautiful inland canal, but with the exception of a district in the very heart of the town, little can be seen of the island retreats of the famous visitors to this spot.

The real beauty of Hobe Sound lies along its shorelines. Open to the waters of the canal are broad expanses of lawn, dotted with colorful umbrellas, dozens of tennis courts, with their red clay surfaces blending beautifully with the green of the cool tropical shrubbery, and a veritable travelogue of leisurely graceful settings for the smart set, beckoning to the passing mariner.

Rendezvous for the social colony at Hobe Sound is the attractive Jupiter Island Club, the former Hobe Sound Inn, which is in keeping with the simple unostentatious life that marks the day to day activities of the residents.

Among the distinguished guests at the Jupiter Island Club, which is a long rambling wooden structure reminiscent of the East Coast hotel buildings of the early days in south Florida, were British Ambassador Lord Halifax and Lady Halifax, who arrived at Morrison Field several weeks ago by plane to spend a brief vacation at Hobe Sound. After several days at the club they occupied the Ward A. Wickwire residence for a brief stay prior to their return to Washington.

Lord Halifax, who was recovering from an attack of influenza, was in Florida for rest and quiet and neither he nor Lady Halifax did more than accept an occasional dinner invitation from close friends. The popular Ambassador from Great Britain enjoyed fishing from the deck of a deep sea power boat and picking up a healthy tan during his Florida hiatus in the sun.

One of the attractive island homes at Hobe Sound is that of Mr. and Mrs. John C. Haddock, who live on a very simple scale during their tenure at their lovely south Florida retreat. Mr. Haddock is one of the colony's most ardent disciples of Izaak Walton and with Mrs. Haddock spends a great deal of time with the Gulf Stream fleet of deep-sea fishermen.

Another interesting sea-side manor is that of Mrs. Robert E. Belknap of Island Creek and Boston. Mr. and Mrs. Gene Tunney are among the most popular of the residents of this island haven. The world's former heavyweight champion and his lovely wife usually come down early and stay late in the season, but this year finds Lieutenant Commander Tunney doing active duty for Uncle Sam and Mrs. Tunney occupying "Horizons", their lovely home, with their children. Her husband joins her when on one of his rare furloughs.

Katharine Hepburn, of theatrical and cinematic fame, is another famous visitor to secluded Hobe Sound. The lovely star brought her family with her last year to occupy one of the attractive homes in the resort. She was the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Philip Barry earlier in the season.

Monseigneur Hayes of Chicago is occupying the residence of the late Cardinal Mundelein for the season. Mr. and Mrs. Anthony D. Bullock of Cincinnati are at their Bon Air Beach residence, which was built last summer. They are at Hobe Sound for the season.

Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Palmer of Princeton, Mr. and Mrs. Harry L. Jones of Stillwater, N. J., are among recent arrivals at Hobe Sound.

Mr. and Mrs. William Barstow, of Great Neck, L. I., arrived recently to occupy Coral Crest, their Hobe Sound residence for the season. Mr. and Mrs. Frederick H. Gordon, who have leased the Lucius W. Robinson villa for the season, are enjoying the diverse outdoor schedule of the social colony.

One of the most interesting of the patriotic gatherings in Hobe Sound this season was the Red Cross Luncheon held at the Jupiter Island Club recently. Hobe Sound members of the Red Cross met to discuss further plans for raising the Martin County quota. A bridge and game party was held, with Mrs. Samuel Pryor, Jr., as hostess and Mrs. Valentine C. Bartlett assisting.

Occupying their home "Faces East" on Beach Road, are Mr. and Mrs. Robert P. Noble of Greenwich, Conn. Mrs. Robert E. Belknap of Boston is now in residence at her Beach Road home. Mrs. F. Worthington Scranton of Scranton, Pa., is another member of the social colony, who will remain for the balance of the season. Her lovely home "Sanderling" is usually a background for a number of attractive social gatherings.

Dining and dancing under the stars aboard the yacht "Silver Wedding" occupied a number of the resort colony in Hobe Sound recently. With the music of the Aiken boys supplying the incentive to dancing, and the lovely tropical background of rustling palms and shimmering waters as an accompaniment, guests of Mr. and Mrs. Stanley G. Mortimer, Jr., of New York City, enjoyed their dinner party aboard the yacht until the early morning hours.

"The Silver Wedding," owned by the Thorne Donnelleys, is one of the Hobe Sound fleet of yachts that ride at anchor off the Jupiter Island Club and furnish a pleasant background for moonlight parties on the sound.

Many residents of Hobe Sound have returned within the past thirty days to open their winter villas for the season, with this year promising to be more interesting than ever before from a standpoint of private parties and outdoor activities.

Mr. and Mrs. Wilson G. Wing of New York and Providence are at their home "La Quinta," on the Beach Road. Mr. and Mrs. Carll Tucker of Mt. Kisco and New York have opened their residence on South Beach Road and since their arrival have been seen on the links of the golf course at Hobe Sound and at other popular sports settings.

"The Pines," residence of Mr. Herbert T. Dyett of Rome, New York, is again one of the interesting rendezvous for the island's social set. Mr. and Mrs. William Hamm, Jr., of Pittsburgh, have opened their Gomez Road villa. The Countess Dorothy di Frasso joined the colony a few days ago and is occupying her recently completed villa.

Mr. and Mrs. Philip Barry are at "Casements," their winter residence at Hobe Sound, making quick trips to New York now and then to keep tabs on his latest play.

Many of the Hobe Sound contingent continue to motor to Palm Beach to take part in the social and civic life of this resort. The Everglades Club, the Seminole, the Bath and Tennis and other private clubs are often the settings for parties at which the smart set from this picturesque island resort participate.

Telephone calls for reservations at the famous Patio, the Alibi, Ta-boo and other fashionable gathering spots are often received from the Hobe Sound colony, with the bronzed winter residents of the island trekking down to Palm Beach for a welcome break in the peace and quiet of their tropical retreat.

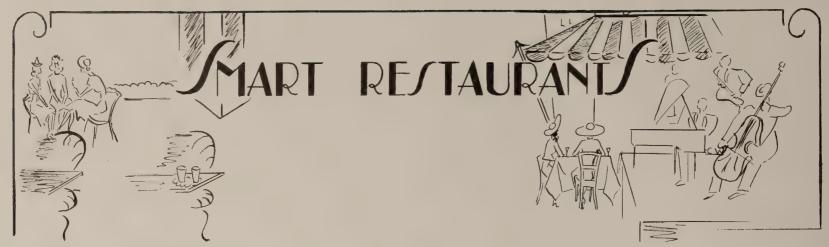

Among the many motoring parties pointing for Worth Avenue's favorite Alibi recently was that of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Dubois, who motored down from Hobe Sound with their guests, Mrs. Lavinio Hagan, Mrs. William Schoettle and Miss Alice Schoettle.

Other Hobe Sound visitors via automobile on that day were Mr. and Mrs. William S. Barstow, Mr. Winthrop N. Saltus, Mr. and Mrs. Sherburne Prescott, Mr. William Hamm, Jr., Mrs. Rodgers Denckla and Mrs. Robert Belknap.

The Casino at Hobe Sound which is ideally located on the ocean front, was done over several seasons ago, and carries out the modern theme, in its furniture and other decorations, attractively done in royal blue and white.

Writers in Palm Beach, the island's smart restaurants attained new interest during the past few weeks, with this brilliant group of visitors occupying the spotlight wherever they gathered.

Golf tournaments, special parties and various social functions honoring America's outstanding literary, artistic and entertainment leaders are the order of the day when the Artists and Writers convene in sunny Palm Beach.

The eloquence of comic artist Rube Goldberg, the madcap propensities of brilliant Arthur William Brown, noted for his Saturday Evening Post illustrations, Otto Soglow's always ingenious parties for his contemporaries and the gamut of events that follow the arrival of the nation's great artists in contemporary fields brighten the war-time gloom brought about by unfavorable reports from the various fighting fronts.

One of the most interesting of the recent parties held for the Artists and Writers in Palm Beach was Mr. Arthur Hammerstein's luncheon and cocktail party for a group at Palm Beach's famous and favorite Alibi. Among the celebrated producer's guests were Mr. James Montgomery Flagg, noted illustrator and portrait artist; Mr. John Golden, famed Broadway producer; Mr. Peter McCoy, Mr. Maurice Collette, Mr. Philip Kobbe, Mr. L. E. McGinena, Mr. Tom Webb and Mr. F. N. Price.

Also entertaining at luncheon on this day were Mr. and Mrs. Worthington Hine, who had as their guests Mrs. James Norman Hill, Mr. and Mrs. A. Parker Bryant, Mrs. Anja Frelinghuysen, Mr. Francis Potter and others. Baron George Wrangell gave a party for Prince Gourielli and Count de Montadouin. Mr. and Mrs. Lammot duPont had as their guests Mr. and Mrs. George F. Edwards, Mr. and Mrs. Elwin Evans and Mr. and Mrs. William Worth.

Guests of Mr. and Mrs. John Moffat were Col. and Mrs. Latham Reed. Mr. and Mrs. Charles Mitchell had in their party Mr. and Mrs. Rentchlae, Mrs. Benjamin Rogers and Mr. Peter Prindiville. Mr. and Mrs. Marshall Heminway were hosts to Mr. and Mrs. Julian Chaqueneau, Mrs. Stephen Sanford, Countess Haugwitz-Reventlow, Mrs. James Donahue, Mr. James Donahue, Mr. James Donahue, Mr. James Donahue, Mr. Woolworth Donahue and others.

Many other members of the social colony enjoyed the smart decor of the Alibi and the beautiful and picturesque tropical patio, with its lovely orange tree in full blossom adding to the beauty of the garden. Among others entertaining on that day were Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Rauh, Mr. Charles Alexander, Mr. Laughlin Alexander, Mr. and Mrs. William K. Burton, Mr. and Mrs. Edward V. Quinn, Mr. Milton Holden, Miss Louise Stanley, Mr. George McCarthy, 3rd, Mr. Neil Millane, Mr. William Parker, Col. Herbert Klotz,

Mr. Ted Bassett, Mr. Dwight Paul, Mrs. Earl Dodge, Mr. Ira Follette Warner, Mr. Nicholas Holmsen, the Duke de Vallembrosa, Mrs. Dorothy Leary, Mr. F. C. McAvoy and others.

The island's famed Alibi under the direction of Captain Alastair Mackintosh, popular member of the social colony in Palm Beach, continues to attract a representative group of the international set in the resort.

One of the most unique dining places in the resort is the Mayerling, the only Viennese restaurant on the island. This charming place in the Worth Avenue Arcade is an authentic bit of the Imperial Vienna long famed for its gay music, its delightful light wines and fine food.

Mr. F. M. Small was dinner host to an interesting dinner party at the Mayerling recently when his guests included Mr. and Mrs. Burwell Smith, Mrs. S. Fahs Smith, Miss Margaret Small and her sister, Miss Mary Small, Mr. George F. Daniels and Mr. Burwell B. Smith.

Princess Francesca Rospigliosi dined with a friend at the Mayerling recently and Mr. and Mrs. Louis Levy entertained for their house guests, Mr. and Mrs. Myron Schaefer, at a nearby table. Mrs. Howard Hodge and her daughter, Miss Dorothy Hodge, were noted with a friend the same evening.

Mr. and Mrs. George Saltonstall Silsbee, Jr., were a recent dinner twosome as were Miss Barbara Rainsford and Mr. Vernon Duke. Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Phillips dined together and Mr. Y. L. Crossmith was noted in a luncheon party.

Others noted at this dining place frequently are Mr. and Mrs. John Gefaell, Mr. and Mrs. Edward U. Roddy, Mr. and Mrs. Oscar G. Davies, and their daughter, Miss Jeanne Davies, Mrs. Tailer Carpenter, Miss Vivian Stokes and Mr. J. B. Danbaugh and his daughter, Miss Joyce Danbaugh.

Archduke Franz Josef and the Archduchess of Austria, who are visiting Mrs. Albert Sidney, were among guests at the dinner party which Prince and Princess Alexis Obolensky 3d gave this week at the Patio in Delray Beach. Other guests included Mr. and Mrs. David A. Morgan, Jr., Prince A. Gourielli, Madame Vlidimir Barzak, Mrs. Paula Demidorff, Miss Jean Wilie, Countess Elizabeth Lamsdorf and Mrs. Sidney.

Mr. and Mrs. Grenville Baker Walker entertained at cocktails at the Patio this week, and Mr. Harry Johnson of Bronxville and Boca Raton entertained for his daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Stewart McCampbell.

Mr. and Mrs. John Ford Booth of Detroit, vacationing at Mar Largo, had a small group there, and Mr. and Mrs. William Doeller of New York also entertained.

THE

PROGRAM

Don't BE BEHIND THE TIMES! Don't wait until others have a head start on you. It's time for you—NOW—to take your place in the job of Civilian Defense! Time for you to start helping yourself, and your family, while you're helping America win the war.

IT'S A THRILL TO SERVE!
IT'S OUR DUTY TO CONSERVE!

For many years your Water Company has been diligently at work on a Victory Program to eliminate all harmful elements present in untreated water. Detailed reports and records in our files reveal the highest tests obtainable.... there is no health substitute for a soft, pure, treated water.

MIAM BEACH

The gala benefit Night-Club-Night for the American Red Cross and the Community Chest, which was staged Tuesday night, March 3, at the Pan-coast, Miami Beach, was preceded by many cocktail and dinner parties in the hotel. Bob Baxter, baritone, who recently completed a highly successful engagement at the Club Bali in Miam, was the Master of Ceremonies, and between times, he favored with a group of songs. The cabaret also included Gail Mac-Donald, a girl in her early teens, whose talent in tap dancing has won enviable laurels. Another feature was Berton and his birds, who entertained in a Miami Beach night club last week. Jerome Twichell and his orchestra entertained with a special musical program.

Bone-fishing is the current quest of Mrs. James S. Cobb of New York and her friend, Mrs. Herbert Robbins of Wollaston, Mass., who will resume their stay at the Pancoast, when they attain their objective at Key West. Collegians on spring holidays are heading this way, and in the vanguard is Miss Mary Louise McGrath, student in Beaver College in Jenkintown. She is accompanied by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. M. F. McGrath of Salem, Mass... Texans who are Pancoasting include Mr. and Mrs. Norman Dumble of Houston, Mr. Arthur E. Bristol of Chicago, has joined his father, Mr. Edward N. Bristol of Montclair, who is at the Pancoast for the entire season . . . Major Henry L. Jones II, formerly of Wilkes-Barre, attached to the Fourth Army Corps recently quartered in Jackson-ville, and who is now on leave of absence, is here with Mrs. Jones.

Mr. and Mrs. Peter T. McShane of Chicago, who are wintering at the Pancoast, entertained with dinner this week in the Mediterranean Room for Mr. and Mrs. James Wooten, Miami Springs, (she is a former Chicagoan) and Mr. and Mrs. Dominick Keating, also of Chicago . . . Mr. and Mrs. Frank A. Ready, New York, are relaxing in tropical sunshine at the Pancoast.

Among dinner hosts this week were Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Taylor Roberts of Bronxville, who entertained in the Mediterranean Room of the Pancoast for Mr. and Mrs. Harry Dundas, Mrs. Alma L. Roe and Mrs. Dudley Craig Morris, New York, Mrs. Morris' daughter, Mrs. Kimber Seward III, Mount Vernon, and Dr. and Mrs. Clyde Bouton and Mr. and Mrs. W. Robb Cook, Bronxville.

Miss Ruth Eleanor Hoffman of New York is vacationing for several weeks at the Pancoast. The summer season will find her with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Paul Hoffman, New York, in their Circle H Ranch in Texas Creek, Col.

HITEHALL CONTINUES as the heart of much of the life, liberty and pursuit of happiness that animates Palm Beach. The daily tea and cocktail hours, the weekly Galas, the card parties, all are magnets which attract society.

Always "to the fire" in patriotic fervor, Whitehall extends its hospitality to officers and enlisted men at Morrison Field, together with their wives or the girls they "date." Marcel A. Gotschi, managing director of Whitehall, is host each week to a number of these boys in uniform, and their pretty feminine companions.

A recent Whitehall Gala evening saluted South America. It was a delightfully festive occasion, with decorations and symbols appropriate to the republics south of the USA.

Back of the orchestra stand was spotlighted the figure of a gay rhumba dancer, a jeweled comb in her hair. The lofty archways of the Palm Court were hung with diaphanous drapes in shades of emerald and sapphire, through which the wrought iron filigree of the arches was clearly discernible. Sapphire lights also winked from the mammoth wrought-iron chandelier, and from the side walls.

Introduced by George Shelley, whose handsome features will soon be seen on the silver screen, Sara Ann McCabe sang a group of lovely songs. These included South American numbers, and in one she practically "Out-Carmened Miranda."

A feature of the evening that was enthusiastically received was the violin solo by Mr. D'Amico—Intermezzo—and the encore, a medley of tunes from Victor Herbert's The Only Girl.

Perhaps it was the South American influence, but many of those who danced at the Gala wore dresses trimmed with wide silk fringe. There was a gorgeous blonde whose white evening frock featured a bodice entirely of fringe, and a fringe peplum. Another dancer's skirt was formed of tiers of fringe. Lace was also popular. Mrs. Thomas J. Davis of Cincinnati wore a beautiful gown of poudre blue lace, with low back and voluminous skirt.

Cocktail hours at Whitehall also are excellent places to see who wears what. There's that pretty little English girl, Suzanne Currie, who wore a bright green school-girl frock that was especially effective with her gorgeous red hair. The frock was trimmed in rick-rack braid. The other afternoon when Miss Currie entertained a group of young friends at the cocktail hour she wore a white dress with tropical figures in green.

Young Mrs. Fred Becklenberg of Chicago combined aqua with red in her outfit, the other afternoon. Her silk jersey dress of aqua was softly draped. A natural straw hat, trimmed with two long feathers, was banded in red, while her sandals, bag and gloves also repeated the red shade.

Whitehall continues as the domicile for sun seekers from the north, south, east and west.

New Yorkers registering recently at Whitehall include: Mr. and Mrs. A. P. Davis, Dr. and Mrs. Camile Dreyfus, Mrs. W. Scott Cameron, Mrs. C. Knapp, Mr. and Mrs. Domenico D'Angiola, Mrs. Max D. Steuer, Mrs. E. R. Zimt, Dr. and Mrs. S. Lubash, Mr. Raymond C. Schindler;

Also Mr. and Mrs. E. K. Denton and Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Von Elm, Forest Hills, N. Y.; Mr. and Mrs. M. B. Lowe, Tenafly, N. J.; Mrs. J. D. Kneen, Santa Monica, California; Mr. and Mrs. B. A. Miss Nancy McLeod (holds it) for both her young brother, William, and the photographer. With their parents, Mr. and Mrs. William McLeod, Newtonville, Mass., they are guests at the Palm Beach Biltmore for the season.

HERE HAS BEEN an appreciable crescendo in the tempo at the Palm Beach Biltmore during the past week as the season reaches its peak.

The end of last week saw many of the Artists and Writers extending their holiday instead of leaving for New York as planned. John Golden, Broadway producer, and Guy Bolton, famous playright, will remain at the Biltmore until they have finished a rough sketch of a play on which they are collaborating. James Montgomery Flagg and Maurice Collette stayed longer than they had originally intended, spending much of their time at the Sun and Surf Club. Fred Bohen, in previous years one of the golf enthusiasts of the group, came late and will be in the Colony for some time.

Events were enlivened by the arrival of a galaxy of Broadway theatrical lights at the Biltmore who took part in the Kiwanis Benefit at the Paramount theater.

In the Cascades Bar at the cocktail hour where Bob Mc-Grew and his group of melody makers play for dancing, celebrities and their friends have been gathering for an aperitif before dinner. Equally interesting to hotel guests and winter visitors have been the popular Sunday night English buffets featuring an evening concert by McGrew's orchestra and guest artists. Peggy LeBaron, well known in Palm Beach, and a guest at the hotel, was the particular attraction for two consecutive Sundays.

An added interest in golf has drawn many hotel guests to the Palm Beach Country Club. The Artists and Writers' Tournament ended with Ray Schindler, detective story writer, holding low card and with Fred Price, founder of the famous Ferargil Galleries of New York, as runner-up.

Another group of good golfers from country clubs in and around Chicago assembled recently at the Biltmore for more tournament play. On the sports schedule for early March is the anticipated arrival of 50 anglers from the New York Athletic Club, and later in the month 300 sportsmen in the Reserve city bankers organization.

A number of season guests have arrived at the Biltmore. From Scarsdale, New York, are Mr. and Mrs. James E. Moule and Miss Marjorie Moule, Mrs. W. M. Byrnes, Jr., and Miss Marie Byrnes.

Mrs. Lawrence Y. Donovan of Boston, Mass., has joined her mother, Mrs. Emma Strunz, season visitor, and will remain for the balance of the winter.

One of Palm Beach's loveliest outdoor settings is the Palm Beach Biltmore's popular garden terrace, where guests of this resort hotel and many members of the resort's social colony gather for a pleasant chat in a colorful setting. This attractive garden spot overlooks the placid waters of Lake Worth and Palm Beach's historic Lake Trail, which is one of the most beautiful of the resort's early landmarks and the only trail still closed to motor traffic.

JOHN TAYLOR ARMS

Looks at a proof of "Crystal and Jade," one of the etchings included in exhibition of his work at the Biltmore Gallery.

A view of Manhattan which contrasts with the etchings of churches, cathedrals and towns in England, France, Italy and Spain now on view at the Biltmore Art Gallery.

DISTINGUISHED SURVEY of etchings by John Taylor Arms, president of the Society of American Etchers and one of the foremost living American printmakers, will be featured at the Biltmore Art Gallery in Palm Beach throughout the month of March.

This exhibition of over a hundred prints opened on Sunday afternoon, March 1st, at the Palm Beach Biltmore. It traces the development of Mr. Arms' accomplishment from his first etching, "Sunlight and Shadow," etched in 1915, to his most recently published plate, "Stockholm." Throughout this period of almost twenty-seven years, Mr. Arms has devoted himself primarily to Gothic art, depicting the great cathedrals and churches of France, Spain, Italy and England. Only rarely has he turned to America for subjects, such as the view of New York, called "From Knoedler's Window," and the western landscape entitled "The Valley of the Savery."

Many of these etchings recall beauties never to be seen again by those who knew pre-war Europe. The peace of the English villages where Mr. Arms drew "Reflections at Finchingfield" and Lavenham, Stanwick, Wilby and West Walton churches has been shattered with bombs. And it is not yet known how many changes have occurred in the French cathedrals and churches which are recorded on more than fifty plates represented in this exhibition.

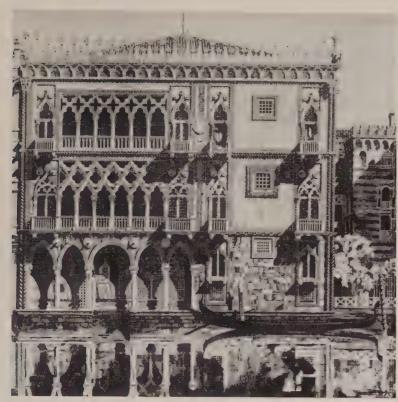

The prints in the series of Spanish churches, of which ten are included, were completed by 1937, all from drawings made prior to the war in Spain. The views of Laon, Burgos, Segovia, Ronda, Gerona, Zamora and Seville are thus of edifices untouched by the fortunes of civil war.

The views of Italy were begun in 1925 and continued to appear throughout the next ten years. They show the picturesque hill towns and cities of Italy, the Ponte Vecchio, the Palazzo dell' Angelo and the Grand Canal of Venice in times of peace.

These prints thus stand not only as an artist's tributes to glories produced by a past age of great art, but also, in many instances, as records of monuments now lost to the future. Many of the prints shown at the Biltmore Art Gallery are rare items from the artist's own collection or prints from plates, such as "Lace in Stone" and "In Memoriam," of which only one or two proofs are available.

John Taylor Arms is one of the best known American artists, both because of his outstanding accomplishment in etching and because of his activities in behalf of art as a writer, lecturer and executive head of various art organizations. In addition to being president of the Society of American Etchers, he presides over the American National Committee of Engraving and the Louis Comfort Tiffany Foundation. He is second vice-president of the National Academy of Design and is at present devoting much of his time to defense work as one of the leaders of the New York Artists Council for Victory.

"Arms is a phenomenon," Samuel Chamberlain, an eminent fellow etcher, wrote recently, "the most extraordinary man that many people, hundreds of people, have ever met. No other American printmaker has reached so wide an audience. None knows so many of his fellow etchers by their first names. No five of them have put so much devoted labor into the Cause of Etching. . . . He serves on endless committees and juries, arranges countless exhibitions and writes more letters than a Congressman up for reelection. And in the meantime he manages to execute the most minutely-etched plates ever attempted in American printmaking. . . . The spiritual quality which underlies his etchings springs from the affection which he feels for his fellow man as well as for his own work."

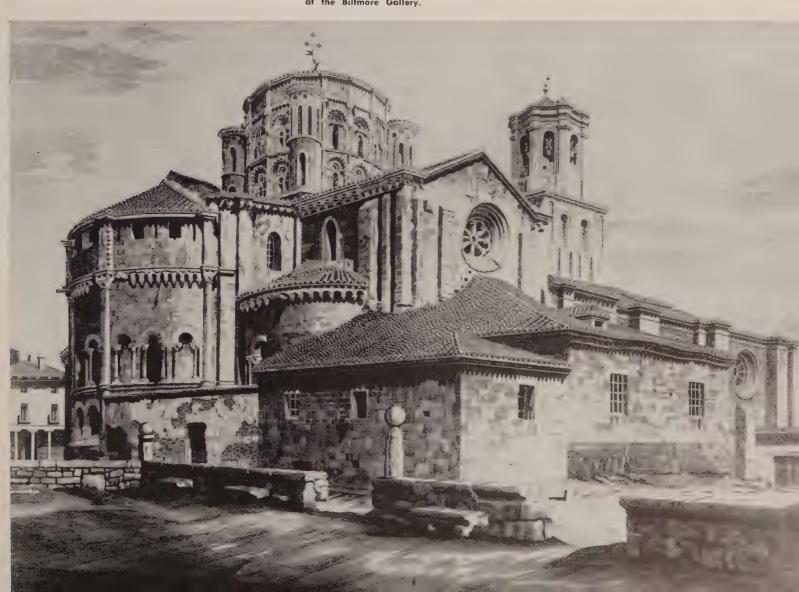

Venetian Filigree—One of the views of Venice included with etchings of France, Spain, England, Sweden and America on exhibition at the Biltmore Art Gallery during the month of March.

At Right—An etching of the North Portal of Chartres Cathedral is one of the largest plates in the exhibition of Arms' etchings at the Biltmore Art Gallery. It provides an extreme contrast to the smallest print in the exhibition, "Chartres in Miniature," which is smaller than a postage stamp and was etched originally to adorn Titania's Palace.

La Colegiata, Toro—One of the series of Spanish churches etched from drawings made before the recent war in Spain. Included in the one-man showing of Arms' etchings at the Biltmore Gallery.

Sports Take Spotlight In Tennis and Golf

THE OLD GUARD SOCIETY of Palm Beach Golfers, one of the outstanding organizations of its kind in the country, chose Mr. Charles Francis Coe, well-known resort attorney and noted writer as president at the annual meeting held in the Old Guard Club rooms over the Palm Beach Golf Club.

He succeeds Mr. Hugh de Laussat Willoughby, Jr., who joins the board of governors as immediate past president.

Other officers elected were Mr. Clinton S. Dow, vicepresident; Mr. William B. Langford, secretary and treasurer, and Mr. Stafford Beach, assistant secretary.

Members elected to the board for a three-year period were Mr. Ward Ames, Jr., Mr. William T. Grant, Mr. Marvin Hughitt and Mr. R. C. Maxwell.

Those serving until 1944 are Mr. John U. Cushman, Mr. Clinton S. Dow, Mr. Henry J. Hinde, Mr. William B. Langford, 1943, Mr. Frank Noyes, Mr. L. O. Peck, Mr. William M. Wadsworth, Mr. R. R. Vale, Mr. Hugh L. Willoughby, Jr.

Two new associate members elected were Mr. Howard L. Murray of Villa Nova, Pa., and Mr. Gilbert C. Drake, Paul Cushman, well-known resort golfer, won the Old Guard Championship for the third successive time to take the Warner Championship trophy in the final compilation of points as the result of the four-day tourney over the Palm Beach Golf Club course. He also took the Low Gross for 36 holes while Second Low Gross went to his brother, Team Captain John Cushman.

Allan K. Wylie, as well known for his prowess at tennis as at golf, took the Smith Medal and Stumer Plaque award, while the Davies Medal and Governor's Cup award went to Mr. R. R. Vale.

Other winners are as follows: Low Gross, 36 holes, Paul Cushman; Second Low Gross, 36 holes, John Cushman; Low Net, 36 holes, Ira F. Warner; Second Low Net, 36 holes, Hal C. Rich; Low Gross, Class A, William B. Langford; Low Net, Class A, James H. Howard; Low Gross, Class B, J. E. Mc-Auliffe; Low Net, Class B, R. C. Maxwell; Low Gross, Class C, F. T. Bedford; Low Net, Class C, Ralph Tillman; Low Net, first 18 holes, S. A. Moody; Second Low Net, second 18 holes, William MacNeill.

Ray Schindler was low net winner and Fred Price low gross victor in the four-day medal play tourney of the Artists and Writers over the Palm Beach Country Club.

Schindler posted a total score of 391, his low net being 287, while Price scored a four-day total of 350, his low net bringing him to 294. Tom Webb, who has been runner-up consistently through the tourney for low net honors, finished in second position with a gross tally of 366 and a net score three strokes over Schindler for 290.

Other players with scores were Charles A. Hughes, 360 gross, 308 net; L. E. McGivna, 430-342; Phil Kobbe, 371-299; Tom Webb, 366-290; Messmore Kendall, three rounds, 249.

Col. Leray Berdeau and C. L. Peet won the Seminole Cup match play handicap tourney by defeating Oscar Johnson and B. L. Taylor on the 18th green by a 1 up tally to take the trophy donated by Wolcott Blair.

Johnson and Taylor had a brace of 86's while Berdeau scored an 82 and Peet an 85, in a match which was close Sports interest in the resort this week is focussed on the Sixth Annual Victory Tournament at the famed Seminole Club which will be a two-day event on Thursday and Friday.

The first day's play will be an 18-hole medal match for the professionals, while the handicap medal play foursome takes place the next day.

It was originally planned to donate the net proceeds of the tournament to the Red Cross, but as that organization's regulations do not permit such a procedure, the donations will again be made to the Good Samaritan Hospital, St. Mary's Hospital and the Unified Drive, Inc.

Admission will be by ticket only and a limited number of badges admitting to the Clubhouse will be sold for each event. Both matches will start at 12:30 each day, with much interest being shown in both day's contests.

Occupying the top position with Craig Wood are such former U.S. Open Champions as Gene Sarazen, Tommy Armour, Billy Burke, Tony Manero, Ralph Guldahl, Byron Nelson and Lawson Little. Marvin Stahl, professional at the Seminole Club, will assist the committee and also play in both events.

Other outstanding professional golfers who are expected to be on the starting tee for both events include Herman Barron, Al Brosch, Sam Byrd, Harry Cooper, Bobby Cruickshanks, Jimmy Demaret, Jim Ferrier, Willie Goggin, Jack Grout, Clayton Haefner, Chick Harbert, Chandler Harper, Dutch Harrison, Jimmy Hines, Ben Hogan, Lee Kosten, Ky Lafoon, Ben Loving, Lloyd Mangrum, Dick Metz, Tony Penna, Phil Perkins, Henry Picard, Johnny Revolta, Felix Serafin, Paul Runyon, Denny Shute, George Smith, Horton Smith, Sam Snead, Jimmy Thompson, Joe Turnesa, Frank Walsh and Clyde Usina, Jr.

Edward F. Hutton and Tony Penna tied with Findlay S. Douglas and Byron Nelson last year and the year previous, Oscar W. Johnson and Jimmie Demaret tied with Findlay S. Douglas and Byron Nelson.

Winners in 1939 were Raymond Guest and Johnnie Revolta; 1938, John J. Daly and Jimmie Hines and in 1937, Raymond Guest and Clyde Usina, Jr.

Two teams tied for top honors in the Seminole Club's tombstone tourney, Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Legendre and Mrs. Stephen Sanford and A. Legendre, each finishing in the cup on the 10th green.

Taking third position were Mr. and Mrs. Marion Sims Wyeth who ended eight feet from the 10th cup.

Prizes were given by Miss Grace Amory.

Others playing included Mr. and Mrs. Hamilton Pell, Mrs. Michael Phipps and J. J. Daly, Mrs. B. Porter and Charles West, Mrs. Dodge Sloane and Col. Latham R. Members of the Surf Club Tennis team defeated the Everglades Club netters in an interclub match at the Everglades club, taking three singles matches and two doubles events.

Summary singles, L. Clark, S. C., defeated John Vanneck, 6-2, 6-4. A. Parker Bryant, E. C., defeated L. Hopkins, 6-3, 6-1; Dr. Philip Hawk, S. C., defeated Edmund Sheedy, 6-4, 8-6; Dr. F. F. Farber, S. C., defeated Spencer Love, 6-3, 6-2.

Doubles, John Vanneck and Spencer Love, E. C., defeated L. Hopkins and Dr. F. F. Farber, 6-3, 6-3; L. Clark and H. Gross, S. C., defeated Walter Reisinger and A. Parker Bryant, 6-2, 6-4; Dr. Philip Hawk and J. McKay, S. C., defeated B. F. McGuckin and John Peek, 4-6, 6-4, 6-3.

Don Budge and Bobby Riggs won chief honors in the professional tennis exhibition at Howard Park before a gallery of 400 fans, including many resort residents.

Budge was complete master of the court as he trimmed Fred Perry, veteran British star, 6-2, 6-3.

Riggs had more of a battle with the clowning Frank Kovacs, who contributed only a pleasant minimum of comic antics while surprising some of the galleryites with his tennis ability. Riggs dropped the first set, 4-6, but outsteadied his opponent to win the next two sets, 6-3, 6-2.

In doubles Budge and Lester Stoefen defeated Perry and Riggs, 6-0, 6-3.

Budge now has a substantial lead in the $100,000 round robin series sponsored by Alexis Thompson. Riggs ranks second, Perry third and Kovacs last.

E. V. Van Voorhees and Miss Maurine Piers won the Sea Spray Club's round robin tennis tourney, taking 24 games and losing 6. In second place were Robert Clarke and Mrs. E. V. Van Voorhees, 23 games won and 7 lost.

Others playing, with scores were David Baldwin and Mrs. J. Lewis Montgomery, 18 games won and 12 lost; John Hjorth and Mrs. J. Vom Berge, 15 won and 15 lost; L. Cornwall and Miss Beth Coleman, 12 won and 18 lost; Ben York and Miss Patricia Murray, 10 won and 20 lost.

Among the new members of the Sailfish Club are Mr. and Mrs. Angus Duncan Mackintosh, who are now occupying their new home on the North Ocean Boulevard. Also Mr. and Mrs. Edwin G. Bruns of the Waldorf Towers, New York and Palm Beach. Mr. and Mrs. Bruns have recently purchased a home in Palm Beach.

Many new fish mounts, both large and small, all recently mounted by Fred C. N. Parke, have added much to the attractiveness of the club's interior. Particularly so in the cocktail lounge, where a large variety of highly colored reef fish, recently donated by Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Windsor, Jr., grace the walls in a most pleasing manner. A deep sea fishing net several hundred feet long has recently been hung on the walls of the club's dining room by Worrell. It adds much to the charm of the general setting and is in keeping with the spirit of the club.

The Preservation and Restoration of an Estate

VIGHT MILES FROM BOSTON, on what was once the Old Sudbury Post Road in a park of some eighty acres, stands, in great dignity and beauty, the historic Gore place. The present house was built by the Hon. Christopher Gore in 1804 to replace his earlier one which burned while the family was in England. Christopher Gore lived in a most critical period of our history. He was born in 1758, the son of John Gore, a well-known Tory. He was graduated from Harvard at eighteen and joined the Revolutionary Army. Seven years later he married Rebecca Amory Payne. He studied law and was appointed by George Washington the first United States District Attorney of Massachusetts. He was sent to England as a member of the Reparations Committee to settle war claims between England and the United States. It was during this period that his first house in Waltham, Massachusetts, burned but fortunately the furniture was saved. Mr. Gore was Governor of Massachusetts from 1809 to 1810 and died in 1827 at the age of 69. He lived lavishly as is shown in the many high studded reception rooms, the servants' quarters, the deer park, the lawns and traces of gardens and what is left of the stables where he quartered his many saddle and coach horses. The one remaining stable is a gem of architecture. It is probably the only example left in New England of a stable of the Revolutionary period.

Gore Place house is built of small pink bricks and is one hundred and seventy-five feet long. Its center is two stories high, with two wings of only a story and a half. It is placed at some distance from the road, commanding an extensive view over lawns, meadows and small ponds. The style is of Georgian simplicity, possibly from economy. As Governor Gore says of it, announcing its completion, ' though built with the greatest economy and absence of ornament, will still keep me at the Bar longer than any love of indulgence would desire." This absence of ornament is one of its greatest charms. A stone platform runs the whole length of the main house and there are two impressive front doors opening on it. There are no pillars, no piazzas, no balconies, to interrupt the perfect line. Mr. Gore's account books show that the present house was built at a cost of $23,000. The architect, unfortunately, is unknown.

The interior plan is extremely ingenious, providing easy access throughout the house, convenient for the extensive entertainment required of a man of social prominence in the public life of that day. Mr. Gore's family was small and it was desirable that the intimate life of the home should not be dwarfed by seeming immensity. The architect achieved this quite remarkably considering the fact that there are some twenty-two rooms to serve five chambers. The scale of the State Reception Hall, the Oval room and the Music room or Art Gallery, with a stud of over fifteen feet permits their use by large numbers of guests. The breakfast room ingeniously shares its tall windows with a small room above placed entresol, and is of intimate family scale. The nurseries used for nephews and nieces, for the Governor and his wife were childless, are interestingly of a still smaller scale with lunette windows and a low elliptical ceiling. The circular staircase is of surpassing grace and beauty. The kitchen wing has been little changed though it originally had a summer kitchen beneath the ground floor, and a Rumford range. Count Rumford, its inventor, lived in the adjoining town of Newton. The long refectory table, the Dutch ovens, the herb room, all show what lavish entertainment and cheer went on during the heyday of the Gore menage.

After Governor Gore's death the estate passed through many hands and much vicissitude through years of change but its essential beauty and distinction were never permanently marred. Its best days were under its early private ownership but it later suffered grievously by being unwisely sold and resold time after time—once for salesrooms for automobiles—once for a golf course, perhaps its most devastating experience for the beautiful trees, at any rate those that had survived from the saw-mill of a temporary owner, were cut down to make fairways, and the farm barns and greenhouses were demolished and the deer house moved to shelter caddies.

In 1935 the property had been taken over by the banks, which had had it surveyed and were planning to immediately raze the house, put through streets and build eighty-seven houses. Through the prompt and inspired action of Mrs. F. Gordon Patterson who had known and loved the property since her childhood, Gore Place was saved. She instantly invoked the aid of the Colonial Dames, the Society for the Preservation of New England Antiquities and the Trustees of Public Reservations. Gore Place Society was formed, money raised to pay off the necessary part of the mortgage, and the unique estate preserved for posterity.

The restoration is going steadily on, thanks to the many and increasing members of the Society and its friends. All important structural repairs have been made and through generous gifts the original outside shutters have been reproduced, sills replaced, trim painted, floors restored and papering done. The original colors throughout have been found, through scraping away layers of wall paper and paint to have been neutral beige, oyster grays and tans. The new decorating is following the old where possible. Mr. Franco Scalamandre, president of Scalamandre Silks, who came from New York one day last winter to see Gore Place, has most generously presented the Society with beautiful period hangings for three of the principal rooms, dyeing and weaving gorgeous brocades in blue for the Oval room whose color scheme is taken from Mrs. Gore's set of blue and gold Lowestoft china; golden yellow and oyster white for the State Dining Hall; and soft oakleaf tan for the Library. The American Institute of Decorators, of which Miss Nancy Mc-Clelland is president, is helping with the utmost generosity. The New York Chapter has designed and is making up the curtains for the State Dining Room, the Rhode Island Chapter for the Oval room and the Illinois Chapter for the Library, and later on when Gore Place Society is ready for them, the Massachusetts Chapter will make the curtains for the up-stairs Oval room.

Gore Place is being gradually and authentically refurnished by loans and gifts of period rugs, portraits, mirrors, books and furniture.

In a world suffering from an unheard-of fury of universal destruction, Gore Place stands waiting, a museum for the people, an example of the elegance and cultured ways of past peace and a promise of the return of sanity, serenity and quiet gracious living.

TARS OF THE KIWANIS SHOW provided the setting for one of the liveliest of Patio parties as they gave an impromptu show at this fashionable establishment following the annual performance at the Paramount Theater.

Ben Bernie, the Old Maestro, occupied the spotlight with John Golden, noted producer, and Eddie Sullivan, the three of whom appeared as masters of ceremonies in the earlier show.

Those who graciously responded to the summons of the m. c.'s included Larry Adler, the wonder man of the harmonica; Sheila Barrett, with her intriguing interpretations; Paul Haakon and Patricia Bowman, superlative dancers, Dixie Dunbar, captivating dancer, and Sara Anne McCabe, entrancing songstress.

Special tribute was paid to Val Ernie, Palm Beach's favorite maestro who did such a wonderful job of conducting the augmented orchestra and all enjoyed dancing to his entrancing rhythm far into the night.

The Wednesday evening fashion show, "Illusion in White," by the well-known firm of J. J. Jonas, offered a delightfully different note, with all white evening clothes in the latest styles being shown, supplemented by luxurious white furs by the Carl Rhodes Salon. Rare jewels were provided by Trabert and Hoeffer, Mauboussin and makeup was executed by Helena Rubinstein.

Dr. Giovanni, the world's greatest pickpocket, scored his second sensational success in his week's engagement at the Patio, amazing the many patrons with his skillful sleight-of-hand and the dexterity with which he removed valuables from his willing victim's pockets—always returning them to the right parties.

Many interesting dinner parties have been enjoyed at the Patio recently.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank C. Henderson were hosts to Mr. and Mrs. Murray Hoffman, Mr. and Mrs. Hamilton Pell, Mrs. Robert Jerome Faulkner, Comdr. Kenneth Rampling, Flight Lieut. Nickenson.

Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Charles Nott entertained for Mr. and Mrs. John Taylor Spaulding, Mrs. Henry Joachim and Mr. Stuart Borchard.

Mr. Charles A. Munn was host to a large group including Mrs. James P. Donahue, Countess Haugwitz Reventlow, Mrs. J. Jay O'Brien and Mrs. Julien St. C. Chaqueneau, Mrs. D. Dulany Hunter, Mr. Herbert Klotz, Jr., Mr. Stephen Sanford.

Mrs. Joseph P. Kennedy was present with Mr. and Mrs. John F. Fitzgerald and Mrs. James O'Leary.

Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Vere Smith were supper hosts to Mr. and Mrs. Eugene K. Denton, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Von Elm, Mr. and Mrs. Reed Albee, Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Abbott, Mrs. Ellsworth C. Warner, Mrs. Walter B. Walker, Mr. McRoberts and Mr. Werner Said-Reute.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Ittleson entertained for Mr. and Mrs. Edward Vogel and Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Renard.

Mr. and Mrs. Archibald McNeil, Jr., were with Mr. and Mrs. Maxwell Geffens and nearby were Mr. Charles A. Hughes, Mr. Ray Schindler and Miss Peggy LeBaron.

Mrs. N. B. Spingold had as her guests Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Levitan. Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Spalding were noted with Mr. James Burton.

An interesting dinner party was that of Mr. Herbert Klotz, Jr., who had as his guests, Miss Nedenia Hutton, Miss Betty Munson, Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Sanford and Mr. Vernon Duke, noted composer.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Fabyan were observed with Mrs. J. Corbin and Mr. Frazier Jelke.

Mr. and Mrs. John Moffat were present with Mrs. Leonard Ettleson and nearby were Mrs. Louis G. Kaufman and Mr. and Mrs. Richardson Dillworth.

Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Turnure were observed with Mr. and Mrs. George Souther and Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Black.

Also Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Lipper, Mr. and Mrs. E. Townsend Ervin, Mr. Herbert Solomon, Mr. Charles Grier Means, Miss Louisa duPont Carpenter, Mrs. Amory Haskell, Mr. and Mrs. Claude Arpels, Archduke Franz Josef and Princess Marta, Mrs. Irene Woodworth, Mrs. Samuel Cole, Mr. Joseph D. Bannon, Mr. Harry Kelton, Miss Marian Anderson, Mr. Howard Clyne, Miss Doris Deerfield, Mr. Generoso Pope, Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Feltman, Mrs. Joseph F. Moran, Mrs. Sam H. Harris and Mr. Cecil Parker Stewart, Mr. and Mrs. Daniel J. Reeves, Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Goodman, Mr. Edward Sweeny, Mr. Morris Legendre, Mr. D. J. Donovan and many others.

Many of our visitors are taking advantage of the lovely scenic road to Delray Beach to visit the Patio. Filling a long felt want, this popular dining place is catering to those who desire the very best in food. The Patio's charcoal broiled steaks and chickens, and their choice wines and liquors, are a delight to the most fastidious.

Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Clarke, of Irvington, had a party of twelve recently at the Patio.

Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Lowman, who are spending the season at Jamaica Square, were hosts to a party of eight one night last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Harris, of Atlanta who are occupying their home here this winter were noted at a table for two the same night.

Mr. and Mrs. Rosewell C. Parker entertained a party of 60 last week in celebration of their wedding anniversary.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Burton, of Providence, R. I., gave a large cocktail party the other afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Hinsbale, of Meredith, Conn., presided over a lovely decorated table for twelve guests Sunday evening.

Club is recognized as one of the resort's smartest institutions. Its charming tropical clubhouse, equally pleasant in warm or in chilly weather, the superb cuisine and service, and the excellent entertainment provided by the Tahitian dancing of Miss Mano Mersman and the dance-inspiring music of Gus Lazaro's Bahamian Club Orchestra combine to make it an ideal place for dinner, supper and cocktail gatherings. Highlights of the club program are the backgammon tourneys and tea dances on Sunday afternoon, the special dinners on Monday and the Dollarolla dinners on Thursday.

Mr. and Mrs. Chester J. La Roche, guests of Prince and Princess Alexis Zalstem-Zalessky at Sandreef, gave a dinner at the South Ocean Club recently for their Palm Beach hosts and also for Countess Mohl and Mr. Raymond Kunkel. That afternoon, Justice James B. Drew and Mrs. Drew and Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Niggeman were hosts at cocktail parties in the Headhunter Lounge.

Mr. and Mrs. Gerald H. Dempsey entertained at the Dollarolla dinner, having in their party, Mr. and Mrs. Walter E. Travers, Mr. and Mrs. Spencer Wyman Aldrich, Mrs. George C. Dempsey and Mr. Schuyler Casey. Dr. and Mrs. Chester H. Morris were hosts that night to Mr. and Mrs. Mario de Tullio, Mr. and Mrs. William White Forrester, Mr. and Mrs. Frank C. Kolb, Mr. and Mrs. Harold C. Heermann, Mrs. Charles H. Randle and Mrs. Russell P. Heuer.

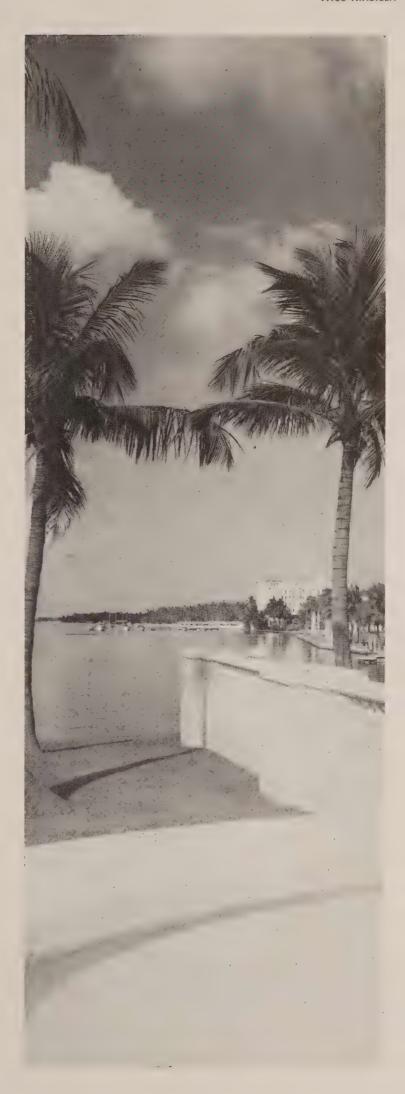

With the Douglas Lories were Mr. and Mrs. R. Bushnell Hyman, Mr. and Mrs. Arnold W. Chapin and Mr. and Mrs. John L. Volk. Others noted that night included Mr. and Mrs. William Lafayette Burton, 2nd, Mr. and Mrs. Frederick E. Gore, Mr. and Mrs. Frank G. Ahern, Mr. and Mrs. Aurin E. Payson, Mr. and Mrs. Edward H. Heilman, Mr. and Mrs. Emerson C. Cook, Mr. Frederick M. Small, Mr. and Mrs. James W. McGaughey, Mrs. Gordon Elliott Law, Mr. Ray D. Lillibridge, Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Charles Nott, with their guest, Dr. Chih Meng.

On the following night, Mr. and Mrs. James Abercrombie de Peyster came down from Windyway, their home in Lake Park, with their guest, Mr. George L. de Peyster. Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Vere Smith were hosts to Mr. and Mrs. Edwin J. Beinecke. The John J. van Gonsics had guests, as did Mr. and Mrs. Henry F. Herring of Morristown, N. J., here for a few days from their winter home in St. Petersburg.

Mr. and Mrs. William T. Grant were hosts at a dinner for 16 at the club Saturday. On that night, the Anthony D. Bullocks came from their winter home at Hobe Sound to entertain several fellow Cincinnatians, Mr. and Mrs. Bruno Graf and Mr. and Mrs. Edward C. Orr. Mr. and Mrs. J. Cummings Barr and Mr. Wellington Wells were noted in a party. Mr. Peter Perkey of Hobe Sound was a dinner host.

From the Palm Beach approach to the Royal Poinciana Bridge, the motorist catches a glimpse of the palm-lined shore of the island's lake trail, with its many intriguing coves and tropical foliage. A favorite sport now as it was in the days when the lake trail was the sole avenue of communication between the north and south ends of Palm Beach, is bicycling; with tandems and other picturesque cycles still in vogue with the resort's smart set, who may pedal their bikes down this secluded trail without worrying about traffic.

SARATOGA SPA STREAMLINED

ARATOGA SPRINGS, N. Y., the town itself, hasn't changed much—but when you emerge from the densely pine-bordered access drive at the Spa, a gloriously new scene spreads itself before you. The curative waters and vitalizing baths are still there—but among the surprises in store for you is The Gideon Putnam, a smart new Spa Hotel right on the grounds of the new Spa and set off by its artfully natural landscaping. It isn't unusual to hear new-comers exclaim, "I just can't believe it's possible, right here within 4½ hours of New York City!"

For the stately buildings, the acres of rolling pines, the handsomely designed malls of the State-owned Spa, all remind one of the best features of famous European watering places. Yet The Gideon Putnam, with its unpretentious, country-home atmosphere, is so typically American in its appeal. Life here is friendly . . . gracious . . . effortless. Inviting, Georgian Colonial decor . . . delightfully unobtrusive service . . . old-fashioned, "down on the farm" cooking, to perk jaded appetites to a gourmet's relish for food . . . these are the rule. (No foreign words on the menu—no heavy gravies, glaces or chi-chi . . . just simple, wholesome vegetables and salads. Yes, women cooks, too!)

And has this country-hotel type of operation proven successful? The recently completed addition of 36 new rooms—to make a total of 135 rooms, is the proof. In size the hotel is now perfect, its capacity just right for its kitchen, dining and service features. As Mr. Ed Sweeny, the president of The Gideon Putnam so aptly put it: "The hand is just the right size for the glove!"

All of Saratoga's old charm still remains. But at the new Spa the added fillip of modern American efficiency in planning, in equipment and in therapies, and at The Gideon Putnam service and management, invites new exploration. You'll be pleasantly surprised!

Smart Restaurants In The Palm Beaches

HE SUCCESS of Ted Stone's Ta-boo seems to be a thing set apart in the Palm Beach social scene . . . neither the war nor the weather has had a dampening effect these past weeks, and a good thing it is, many colony members feel, because of the uplift of spirit and morale that entertaining at Ta-boo seems to create. The smart setting with its modern hospitality and service has been the recent scene of scores of socialite-given parties in which the names of many defense-workers and prominent vacationers figure importantly.

From day to day, a close observer might find difficulty in deciding which is Ta-boo's most popular or favorite offering . . . the buffet luncheon composed of a fine, French cuisine, the always crowded and fashionable cocktail hour, or the charcoal-broiled dinners immediately following Ta-boo's late afternoon activity. Much interesting entertaining goes on all through the day and evening at this festive smart-spot, however.

The Henry Anderson Gomans gave a luncheon party at Ta-boo the other day. Among their guests were Sir George and Lady Bettesworth-Piggott, Mrs. Frank C. Henderson, Mr. and Mrs. Hamilton Pell, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Sinclaire, Mrs. Ellsworth C. Warner, Mr. C. Bryant, Mr. and Mrs. Jones McGaughey, Mrs. Robert Faulkner, Mr. Minford Bond, Mrs. Catherine M. Legget, Mrs. Arthur Gorbel, Mr. Marshall Dearson, Mrs. Marcellus H. Gallop, Mr. C. Percival Dietsch, Mr. Frederick Pearson, Mrs. Hill Orvis, Mr. Harry C. Radon and Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Royce Kent.

Often found lunching at Ta-boo are Commodore and Mrs. E. Townsend Irvin. One day recently they made a luncheon foursome with Mr. and Mrs. G. Metzman. Mr. and Mrs. Edward Vogel were dinner hosts to Commander and Mrs. Louis Beaumont, Miss Jane Lamar, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Conried and Mr. and Mrs. Henry Ittleson. Princess Laura Rospigliosi was in an interesting luncheon threesome with Mrs. Earl Dodge and Colonel William Hayward. The same day Mr. S. Anderson Peck was seen lunching with Mr. Austin Jennings. The much-discussed Congressman, Mr. Hamilton Fish, was also in a luncheon group with Mr. Frederic C. Brooks, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Beinecke, Miss Virginia Dunne, Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Cunningham, Mr. Herbert Streat and Mr. Herbert Rowell.

To see and be seen at Ta-boo's cocktail hours remain one of the resort's happy activities this season as was marked recently by the small cocktail party in which the ex-Governor of Massachusetts, Alvan T. Fuller, appeared with Miss Lydia Fuller and Mr. and Mrs. Alvan T. Fuller, Jr. That evening Dr. and Mrs. Edward Sibley were in a dinner party with Mrs. Gustave Pabst, Miss Paula Uihlein, and Dr. and Mrs. Matthew Mellon. Mrs. Ralph Crane had cocktails with Mr. and Mrs. Noel Marshall Seeburg.

Sharing a luncheon table for two were Mrs. Arnold W. ("Chip") Chapin and Mrs. Douglas Lorie. Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Dunbar were a cocktail twosome as were Mr. and Mrs. Antonio Chopitea, Mr. and Mrs. J. Cumming Barr, and Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Allen Poe, who were later seen at lunch in the patio. The artist, Mr. Channing Hare, was in a large luncheon group. Several luncheon and dinner parties have been given recently by the William Rabes. Another popular host at Ta-boo has been Mr. W. N. Saltus. Mr. Carle J. Blenner was noted in a recent party.

Palm Beach to meet and compare notes in the island's smart restaurants, with Palm Beach's favorite Alibi as the setting for luncheon and cocktail parties given by and for the international set each day.

Cosmopolitans gather in the picturesque tropical patio of this famed rendezvous to chat over a delicious buffet luncheon and drop back later in the afternoon to join the smart set at the fashionable cocktail hour, in the blue and white decor of the Alibi lounge.

"Meet me at the Alibi" has become the island's favored slogan, with shopping parties on Worth Avenue, golfing foursomes from the Everglades Club's championship fairways and tennis players from various of the resort's mirror smooth courts meeting at Captain Alastair Mackintosh's fashionable Worth Avenue Restaurant and cocktail lounge after their afternoon's activities.

Evidence of the popularity of the world-famous Alibi as a meeting place for the members of the international set was the choice of this smart gathering spot by the players who participated in the Everglades Club's Invitation Backgammon Tournament recently.

One of the interesting parties given for this group was Mr. Walter Richard's victory party, celebrating his winning of the National Backgammon Championship at the Everglades Club Tournament. Among Mr. Richard's guests were Mr. Georges Mabardi, Mr. Frazier Jelke, Mr. Maurice Fatio, Mr. Robert Appleton, Duke de Vallembrosa, Mr. Clemente Ballen, Mr. Manuel Cervantes, Col. Joseph Stehlin, Mr. R. Bushnell-Hyman, Mrs. Dee Bredin, Mr. Laurens Hamilton, Mr. Edmund Sheedy, Mr. Nicholas Holmsen, Mr. Dwight Paul, Mr. Ted Bassett, Mr. Anthony Traina, Mr. Charles West, Prince Gourielli, Princess Laura Rospigliosi, Mrs. Dorothy Leary, Mr. Christopher Dunphy, Mrs. Alberto Santos, Mr. Worthington Hine, Mr. Woolworth Donahue, Mr. Julian Chaqueneau and Mr. Samuel Sanford.

Another attractive party given at the Alibi on that afternoon was Mr. and Mrs. Edward V. Quinn's luncheon gathering for several friends. Their guests were Mrs. Theodore Bassett, Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Black, Mr. Martin Quinn and Mr. and Mrs. Marshall Heminway.

Princess Hohenlohe-Schillingsfurst was the guest of honor at a party given by Mr. Gurnee Munn. Others in this interesting group were Mr. and Mrs. A. Parker Bryant, Mr. and Mrs. John W. Peck, Arch-Duke Franz Josef, Princess Marta, Prince and Princess Alexis Obolensky, Prince and Princess Gialmi Odescalchi and Mr. Reginald Boardman.

Mrs. James Donahue entertained for the Countess Haugwitz-Reventlow, Mr. Woolworth Donahue, Mr. James Donahue, Jr., Mrs. Arthur Somers Roche, Mrs. Margaret Emerson, Mrs. Henry J. Topping, Jr., Mr. Milton Holden, Mrs. Dodge Sloane and Mrs. Wesson Seyburn. With Mr. Jules Bache, noted art connoisseur, were Madame Guinlie, Sir Charles and Lady Mendl.

Guests of Mr. Charles Alexander included Mr. George McCarthy 3rd, Mr. Laughlin Alexander, Col. Hugh Bayne, Mr. Hugh Bayne, Jr., and Mr. Edmund Sheedy. Prince and Princess Irbain Kaplanoff and Mrs. John Montgomery lunched together.

Tropical Charm Surrounds Popular Everglades Club

A striking view of the charming patio of the exclusive Everglades Club opposite the entrance foyer, which presents a scene of tropical delightfulness, being the setting for interesting teas or intimate luncheon parties. Below—this sheltered lagoon offers one of the most beautiful of Palm Beach views bordering the shore of the Everglades Club and visible from the Orange gardens or from the 18th green.

The Mayerling

Those who are spending their first season in the resort are delighted to find Mayerling, that unique Viennese restaurant which is tucked in a secluded little corner of the Worth Avenue Arcade. Of course, returning resorters remember the Mayerling from last year and are usually seen, shortly after their return to the island, wending their way to this charming dining place.

There are several reasons for the remarkable success of this bit of Imperial Vienna. There is the smart Continental atmosphere—the gaily striped awning, the flagstoned patio and the lilting Strauss waltzes which are played during both the luncheon and dinner hours.

But the real reason for the continued appeal of Mayerling is the authentic Viennese cuisine which is featured there. The kitchens are under the direct supervision of Charles Hackl, who served an apprenticeship in Vienna and has been connected with the Hapsburg house and the Everglades Club.

The delectable dishes at the Mayerling include popular items such as the numerous varieties of gulasches, wiener schnitzel, paprika huhn, palatschinken and many other fascinating culinary masterpieces. And the carefully selected wine list offers the perfect accompaniment for whatever item is chosen from the varied menu.

The luncheon hour at the Mayerling is always popular with resorters who are shopping on Worth Avenue and find it a convenient place to meet friends for dining. Those who are deep in war work, as most of the colonists are, find the Mayerling a relaxing and restful place. The Mayerling is so conveniently located it is the perfect place for those who find time to be of primary importance.

Mrs. Flagler Mathews and her house guest, Mrs. H. Ross Greer, were members of a recent dinner party at Mayerling which included Mr. Ernest J. Sirest. Mr. and Mrs. Edward E. Bartlett, Jr., dined together and Mr. and Mrs. Burwell Smith were noted with Mrs. S. Fahs Smith. Mrs. Genevieve Archer and Major F. L. Nelson were a dinner two-some the same evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Percy Warner are other frequent dinner twosomes as are Mr. and Mrs. E. U. Roddy, Baron and Baroness von Schlotheim, Mr. and Mrs. William McNair of the Everglades Club, Col. Hugh Bayne and his son, Mr. Hugh Bayne, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Hartley and many others.

Many members of the hotel contingent, noted in the resort for a few days or a fortnight or so, are observed at the Mayerling in luncheon or dinner groups daily, enjoying the bit of Old World charm which is Mayerling.

An Early Season Cure Will Perk You Up!

Nerves overwrought? Been under strain too long? Come to The Gideon Putnam and an early cure at Saratoga Spa. Combining the aesthetic beauty of marble pillars and lovely Grecian Urns with the lush tropical loveliness of their tropical gardens, Whitehall's impressive entrance is one of the most interesting of the resort's show places. The former marble mansion of the late Henry M. Flagler presents the most unique hotel entrance in the world, with a fortune in art treasures to be found within its doors.

FAITH

This is Tomorrow's America.
This is the little boy around the corner, the child across the street, the youngster you meet every day. This is your own little boy. This is Tomorrow's America and he has faith in you.

We will not fail him!
To preserve that faith we will give our all... be it our life, our fortunes, or the sweat of our brow ... WE WILL NOT FAIL HIM!

Faith is an asset your Water Company values more than any tangible part of their business, it is the one prize which they cherish above all others.

Scalamandre Fabrics of Today [are the Heirlooms of Tomorrow

SCALAMANDRE fabrics have been repeatedly chosen by fine arts museums all over America for exhibition as examples of the weaving art in its finest form.

In addition, wherever correctness and authenticity in period decoration has been of prime importance, such as in the restoration of Colonial Williamsburg, Va., Scalamandre fabrics have been most frequently designated.

These facts are particularly gratifying since Scalamandre fabrics are produced, not for display purposes or as beautiful but impractical "show" pieces, but primarily for use in the home, as draperies, upholstery or trimmings. It is their purity and excellence in design, the high quality of the materials used and the superb craftsmanship of our weavers which is responsible for their selection as today's outstanding decorative fabrics.

To those discriminating persons who have insisted upon the use of Scalamandre fabrics in the decoration of their homes, it is a source of pride to realize that the covering of a chair, or the draperies at a window, are not only of unrivalled beauty and quality, but are produced by a weaver who has been honored by fine arts authorities nationally for individuality and artistic excellence.

And just as you value the old tapestry panel or the fine bit of mellowed old brocade which has been a treasured possession of your family for generations past, so will future generations take pride in your Scalamandre fabric of today . . . the heir-looms of tomorrow.

Key West

The next few weeks will see the close of another season at Key West, and colonists are already beginning to return North. It has been a friendly, intimate season, and farewells are reluctant. Many new friends, attracted by their menfolk stationed here, have fallen under the spell of this Southern-most resort, and Key West will be waiting for old and new friends alike when the propitious time comes again.

The season will be closed with three performances of the Dead Sister's Secret by the Key West Players on March 19, 20, 21. The first performance will benefit the Naval Relief Fund, the second the Key West Players and the third will entertain all enlisted men.

There are many farewell parties being given at the Casa Marina. Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Stuart of Newark, N. J., entertained before returning home, completing the winter here. Their guests were Mrs. Frederick E. Williamson, Mrs. Howard Stovall, Mr. Phil Emerson and Mr. Charles P. Hine. Mr. John Jacob Astor had as his guests Mr. and Mrs. Sidney A. Stewart, Mr. Paul W. Morency, Mr. and Mrs. George G. Brooks, Jr., and Mr. Edwin S. Dewing. Major and Mrs. Harry F. Evans of Davenport, Ia., entertained for Major and Mrs. Robert Snidow before returning home.

Snidow before returning home.

Mr. and Mrs. B. M. Duncan entertained at the Casa Marina for Governor and Mrs. Spessard L. Holland. Others present were the commandant of the Seventh Naval District and Mrs. Russell S. Grenshaw, Mrs. G. R. Smiley and Mr.

William Porter.

Mr. and Mrs. Norberg Thompson of New York and Key West, entertained about two hundred and fifty guests at a housewarming at their new island home, Isleta. Among those present were Capt. and Mrs. Crenshaw, Col. and Mrs. Gilbert D. Hatfield, Commander and Mrs. J. H. MacKay, Mayor and Mrs. Willard M. Albury, Commander and Mrs. T. Dick, Dr. and Mrs. Stephen Douglass, Mr. and Mrs. Peter Schutt, Capt. and Mrs. Jesse W. Allen, Mrs. Robert T. Menner, Mrs. D. A. Printz, Miss Ileen Williams, Mrs. Hunt Harris, Miss Minnie Porter Harris, Mr. William Porter, Mr. and Mrs. Wallace B. Kirke, Major and Mrs. Snidow, Mrs. William Harshaw, Mr. William Barnes and Mr. and Mrs. John J. Hicks Kerr.

James Blanton, U. S. N., caught a sailfish last week measuring 6 feet 6 inches and weighing 49 pounds.

Arrivals at the Casa Marina include Mr. and Mrs. Theo L. Bailey and Mrs. Pauline D. Barr of Harriman, N. Y., Mr. and Mrs. Charles L. Hulswit of Suffern, N. Y., Mr. and Mrs. E. deWitt Walsh of Oyster Bay, L. I., Mr. and Mrs. Carl F. W. Kaelber, Miss Katherine Kaelber, Mr. and Mrs. L. C. Anderson and Miss Dolores Anderson of Rochester, N. Y., and others.

Today New York is more than a metropolis. It is the fashion, amusement, cultural and financial center of the world . . . smart shops stocked with dazzling merchandise . . . theatres offering an unprecedented list of "hit shows." And in the center of all this throbbing gayety, the Savoy-Plaza, whose personalized service and delicious cuisine will make your visit a memorable one. Spacious rooms and suites of various sizes contoured to your comfort. Savoy-Plaza rates are reasonable.

"fired the first broad-side" of its battle to protect the quality of Jamaica's famous Rums.

It enacted the first law controlling their manufacture—almost a century and a half before Nelson's glorious sea victory. Thus was inaugurated the 281 years of governmental supervision and careful development which have given the world its finest rums.

The present slow, natural manufacturing and aging process, so carefully evolved, produces a mellow, delicate, unique flavour "born to blend."
Try a light or dark Jamaica Rum—any of the brands—in your next highballs, cocktails or punches. Use tropic fruit juices for which the Rums have a geographical affinity. Be sure to ask for

Jamaica Rums

Try these favorite recipes which the Jamaicans themselves endorse:

JAMAICA PUNCH 1/3 jigger lemon or lime juice, 2/3 jigger sugar or syrup, 1 jigger Jamaica Rum, 1 1/3 jiggers water, lots of cracked ice. Shake until creamy "collar" rises and serve.

JAMAICA SWIZZLE To 1 jigger Jamaica Rum add six dashes Angostura Bitters, juice of 1 lime or lemon, 1 teaspoonful granulated sugar and plenty of shaved ice. Churn with swizzle stick till con-tainer frosts. Strain into glass and serve.

The Mayerling

Members of the cottage colony find Mayerling, the unique restaurant in the Worth Avenue Arcade, the perfect setting for informal luncheon and dinner parties.

The intimate flagstoned patio with its bright umbrellas and gaily striped awning is a particularly popular set-ting for these parties. And the gay Strauss waltzes enhance the Continental atmosphere which is so much a part of Mayerling.

The authentic Viennese cuisine which is featured at this charming dining place is especially appreciated by gourmets and discriminating members of the resort. Many of the delectable dishes are prepared from Old World recipes which were handed down, generation to generation, by the leading families of ancient Austria.

Mr. and Mrs. Jacques A. Gerard, recently arrived in the resort, were noted at a dinner table for two as were Mr. William O. L. Stanton and Mr. Kenneth L. Fox. Miss Anita Cleary was noted in a dinner party the same eve-

Others noted at Mayerling frequently include Mr. and Mrs. John H. Scott, Baron and Baroness von Schlotheim, Mr. and Mrs. Leo Feuer, Mr. and Mrs. Edward U. Roddy and Mr. and Mrs.

L. F. Wolf de Perret with Dr. and Mrs. Raymond Massene. Mr. and Mrs.Sidney B. Silleck and their daughter, Miss Shirley Silleck, were noted in a dinner party recently with Mrs. S. Arlents Edward while Mr. and Mrs. Carl H. Bolter were seen at a table for two. Col. Hugh A. Bayne and his son, Mr. Hugh Bayne, Dr. Joseph J. Eller and Mr. and Mrs. Arthur J. Connell were also noted there recently.

MIAMI BEACH

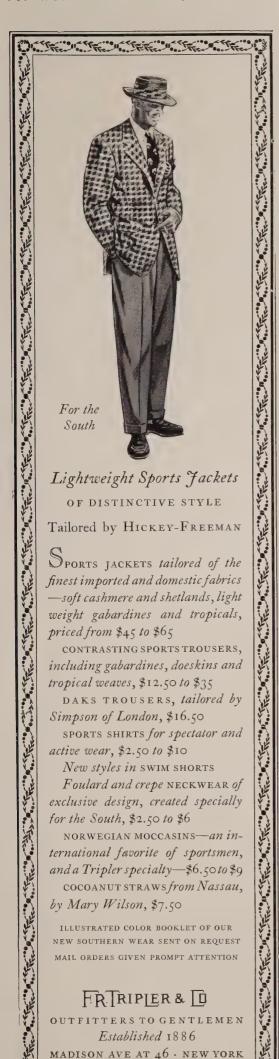

Mr. and Mrs. Robert C. Vance of New Britain, Conn., have joined the early spring colony at the Pancoast. With them are their youngsters Joanne and Robert, Jr. The summer months will find them at the Cavalier Hotel in Virginia Beach. Mr. Vance and his brother Mr. John Stone Vance, are owners and publishers of the New Britain Herald.

Chattanoogans recently arrived at the Pancoast are Mr. and Mrs. Paul B. Carter and daughter Miss Dorothy Elizabeth "Presh" Carter, a recent graduate of Kingsmith School. Mrs. Newton Hazelwood of Danville, Va., a sister of Mrs. Carter, is also a member of the party.

The gay reunion of friends at the Pancoast, as they return year after year, accents the social charm of this hotel, giving it the atmosphere of a glorified club at the shore, in a tropical setting. Mrs. Carroll Milam of Jacksonville, formerly of New Orleans, is Pancoasting again. With her is Carroll, Jr., former student in the University of North Caro-

Patio --- Delray Beach

The Patio in Delray Beach has achieved new fame with those wishing to entertain, since the advent of Idaho potatoes "baked" in resin in a huge iron cauldron that swings quaintly over a glass-brick fireplace. A number of luncheon, dinner and cocktail parties have taken place there recently.

Mr. Messmore Kendall of Palm Beach and New York, was host at dinner Thursday, his guests including Mrs. Anne Valdee, Mrs. D. O. Shoemaker, and Mr. Guy Bolton. Other "Thursdaynighters" were Mr. and Mrs. Lorne Smith of Chicago, who entertained for six, and Mr. Leone Menachatti of New York, who honored Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Geier of White Plains, N. Y.

Mrs. James E. Bentley of Perrysburg, Ohio, was hostess at a cocktail party for fourteen this week, and Mr. and Mrs. Marshall Reid of Baltimore, were dinner hosts on Thursday at the Patio. Mr. and Mrs. George McConnell of Urbana, Ohio, were observed dining there, and Mr. Herbert Moffitt of Washington. D. C., also was host to a group.

ington, D. C., also was host to a group.

Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Brodesser of Chevy Chase, Maryland, who are vacationing at the Seacrest Hotel, entertained at a dinner party of eight on Saturday. Mr. Peter Berkey of Hobe
Sound, was a recent host at cocktails.

Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Lowman of New York, entertained for Mr. and Mrs. Laddie Sanford. Mr. Lowman is vicepresident of Columbia Broadcasting Co., and Mr. Sanford is the renowned polo player.

Miss Bertha Cist of Cincinnati, was hostess at luncheon Friday at the Patio in Delray Beach, her guests including Miss Madeline Nash of Chicago, Mrs. Frank Cist of Delray, Mrs. Hugh Carmichael of Cincinnati, and Mrs. James Munroe of Delray Beach.

Mrs. Thomas B. Paxton of Dayton, Ohio, was hostess at the Patio this week, and among her guests were Ohioans Mr. and Mrs. Richard H. Grant of Dayton.

Current Garden Sculpture Exhibition to Continue

THE SOCIETY OF THE FOUR ARTS

ARDEN SCULPTURE in the current exhibition at the Society of the Four Arts, under the chairmanship and direction of Mrs. Lorenzo E. Woodhouse, achieves a value, both artistic and actual, rarely encountered in the Palm Beach scene. Run in connection with the Exhibition of Tropical Design and continuing through the Members' Exhibition, until April 2nd, more than a score of pieces are provided a handsome setting in the Four Arts patio, luxurious with rare tropical plants, colorful bougainvillaea and azalea shrubs, and the beautiful Four Arts gardens in which the individual figures are arranged against a green and living background worthy of their art.

Six important sculptors are represented in their most typical work. Over half the exhibition is composed of the figures of the famed sculptor, Wheeler Williams, whose popular work and ability are internationally recognized in both his garden sculpture and less frequent portraits of persons.

Causing unanimous praise and pleasure are the five handsome figures done by Leno Lazzari, a Palm Beach artist whose work demonstrates an unusual combination of integrity and beauty. "Girl With Shell" by C. Percival Dietsch, wellknown Palm Beach resident, is prominently placed facing the path leading from the Four Arts patio to the gardens. Smaller detailed figures are found in two solidly wrought bronzes by J. Clinton Shepherd . . . "Pony Tracks" and "Maverick." Several of Harold Swartz's modern portraits are shown which echo his exhibition held at the Four Arts earlier in the season. Agnes Yarnall (Mrs. Lawrence LePage) shows two sturdy bronzes, "Fountain Figure" of a woman bathing, and "Woman With Fruit." Besides these Yarnall figures, three plaster plaques using swans, fish and shells as subject materials, were hung in the Tropical Design Exhibition which, for over two weeks, ran concurrently with the Garden Sculpture show under the direction and chairmanship of Mrs. George C. VanDusen.

Placed in the gardens are several of the lead figures, about three feet high, from Wheeler Williams' series of "Childhood of the Gods" representing classical deities as children. The main entrance to the Society of the Four Arts is flanked with his two handsome Black Panthers which carry on their leonine heads the praise of many critics. Two large, bronze roosters guard the entrance to the gardens, and close by is his life-size figure, "Primavera," which shows a nude girl, her head thrown back, sunning.

It is the beautiful figures of Leno Lazzari which cause admiration and acclaim. As interesting as his work is the life and background of this unaffected artist. For a romantic background, there is the centuries-old history of one Bramante Lazzari who started St. Peter's Church in Rome in 1505. This was begun under the sponsorship of Pope Julius the 2nd who became deeply interested in this craftsman's drawings for the new Church to replace the old St. Peter's, then in poor condition. Under Bramante Lazzari's direction, work on the "new" edifice went forward until his death when Michelangelo took his place. This progressive state of the Church has existed until today. The building remains unfinished despite the years of labor, love and time that have gone into its creation.

There has always been an artist in the Lazzari family. When but four years of age, Leno was to be found turning a forge in a mechanic's shop in Rome, standing on his toes to achieve the process. From that time on, he has been hard at work, learning by the slow and patient way. Apprenticeships in many studios aided him more, he says, than any formal training he may have had, some of which was acquired at St. Luca's Academy in Rome. Unable to speak English, and knowing no one, he came to America in 1927, living rather precariously in New York City until 1930 when when he came to Florida where he has since made his home. Frequent excursions to Aiken, S. C., and Long Island have resulted in much successful work in those areas.

"I stick to life until I can make life look better," he says in speaking of how he achieves the beauty in his work. And, "I like to satisfy the public, my customer. If I can't do this, I must grow potatoes!" he admits. As a matter of fact, Lazzari portraits do have a slight difference from life in that they are a little better formed with shapes more pleasing to the eye than may actually exist.

To his credit are bronze and marble portraits of persons, many of them world-famous; memorials, such as one finds at Winter Park and the Florida State College; sculpture, such as that in the present exhibition; and pencil drawings of well-known personages including several prominent local residents.

"PRIMAVERA": the cast stone figure of a nude girl sunning, by Wheeler Williams, and now included in the Garden Sculpture Exhibition at the Society of the Four Arts.

"Rainbow Fountain," Lazzari's kneeling nude figure of a girl holding shells, is one of the highlights of the exhibition. The figure is cast so that a fine spray creates a semicircle of water about the girl in such a fashion that a rainbow of color seems to envelop her. The grace of this figure, as well as its charm, may be seen in the accompanying illustration and is thoroughly typical of the Lazzari art. The young girl figure of "Spring Leaves," another fountain piece, stands upright in slender poise, a green bronze example of sprightliness and beauty. "Sleeping Faun" is wrought of Vermont marble. Its soft, flowing lines depict the title expressively. Familiar to many is the little life-size figure, "Boy With Frog." . . . a bronze likeness of a small, nude boy engrossed in holding tight his captive. Utterly different from his other four works in the exhibition is Lazzari's treatment, style, and conception of his handsome bronze "Speed Age" in which two nudes are arranged in a clearly-cut pose expressive of great speed.

Always interested in fostering the arts, this season the Society of the Four Arts has welcomed each opportunity of furthering this important activity when war and defense measures occupy one's time and troubled thoughts. An interest in the intangibles of art, such as the feeling and spirit of sculpture, provides not only both stimulation and relaxation, but strengthens what many consider the purpose of this world-enveloping war . . . the preservation of a higher culture and the life which accompanies it.

Beauty, hard work, and understanding, as the art in the season's several exhibitions has displayed, are a stimulus to a thinking mind and, although representative of the intangibles in art, go far toward developing a grasp on life and a deeper feeling for it.

With the opening of Four Arts activities in December, marked by an excellent watercolor exhibition, and continuing through the close of the Members' Exhibition, April 2nd, the exhibitions and various forms of cultural entertainment of this organization attract large numbers of winter residents and resorters.

Palm Beach and Florida artists have been well represented at the Four Arts this season, as have many whose work is nationally and internationally known. Specialized shows which have included those of watercolors and tempera, interior decoration, sculpture, contemporary American painting, and tropical design have been produced with a success and large following. Running now and continuing through April 2nd, the Members' Exhibition is composed of works of art by members of the Society of the Four Arts, selected by jury, and the work of several sponsored artists.

Guest artists have appeared in enjoyable Hours of Music and, by the end of this season, will have included a variety ranging from the Delius Chamber Music Group and Madame Louise Arnoux, French diseuse, to Joseph Battista, the famed young pianist. Illustrated lectures have ranged in type from those on American painting by the well-known art critic, Mrs. Helen Appleton Read, to Mr. Charles R. Knight's "Animal Life in Prehistoric Florida." The Library of the Four Arts has increased its membership this year as well as its books. Housed in the Library is the interesting and extensive collection of data belonging to the Palm Beach County Historical Society and pertaining to the early history of Palm Beach and the state of Florida.

"RAINBOW FIGURE," the most popular figure in the current Four Arts Garden Sculpture show, by Leno Lazzari, well-known Palm Beach Artist. The charm and grace of this kneeling nude portrait of a young girl is enhanced by the fine water spray thrown from the clasped shells in a semi-circular rainbow surrounding the figure.

Shortly before the closing of the Four Arts this spring, outstanding motion pictures, unshown locally, will be presented on the north lawn, weather permitting. The main gallery will be set up to accommodate the performances in case of rain. It is through the efforts of the Four Arts and its director, Mrs. Ann Poeller, that these presentations of superior entertainment are made possible to Palm Beach and neighboring communities. Moreover, there will be showings especially for enlisted men in this vicinity for which, of course, no charge will be made.

Regardless of what the future may have in store, the Four Arts plan a successful season next year.

The Exhibition of Garden Sculpture provides another example of artistic wealth and value made possible to Palm Beach and its environs by the Society of the Four Arts.

"PANTHER," one of the two black panthers in polished bronze, by Wheeler Williams. The pair stands flanking the main entrance of the Society of the Four Arts. Simplified and somewhat stylized, they denote an unusual strength and power.

Cottage Colony Society Life

Palm Beach is found in recent activities of the resort's cottage colony. Owners of the island's beautiful estates are planning to stay until late in May and many of the social colony have made plans to occupy their homes for the major part of this summer.

Striking contrast to the early days in Palm Beach is found in this new phase in the life of this famous resort. Where in former days, the Washington Birthday Ball at the Royal Poinciana Hotel was the official close of the Palm Beach season, today finds this date but the beginning of social and civic activities in this noted semi-tropical gathering spot for the smart set of two continents.

Mrs. Margaret Emerson, Mrs. Robert D. Huntington, Mr. and Mrs. Aksel C. P. Wichfeld, Mrs. Dodge Sloane, Mrs. Wesson Seyburn and a host of other resort leaders have made plans to stay through May in Palm Beach.

Another interesting phase in a social season that began rather haltingly due to the shock of America's forced entry into the war, is the determination of Palm Beach's residents to meet with their friends in a friendly setting for cocktail and dinner parties between their diversified war activities.

With practically the entire cottage colony immersed in defense work of one kind or another, the island's resorters and residents have earned the brief and happy respites from war work afforded by entertaining their friends in their suncaressed patios and beautifully appointed homes.

MRS. CHESTER F. KROGER

Of Madeira, Ohio, and Pelican Lane, Palm Beach. The Krogers' resort residence is the setting for many delightful parties in the course of the season.

Viewed from the air, the smart Sea Spray Beach Club presents an interesting sequence of attractive outdoor settings; gay colored cabanas, an excellent solarium, tennis courts and other backgrounds for the varied sports activities of the members are seen in this aerial shot.

Among the interesting dinner gatherings in the Cottage Colony recently was a dinner party given by Mr. and Mrs. Aksel C. P. Wichfeld for several friends at their beautiful new home, "The Reef." The party was given in celebration of Mr. Wichfeld's birthday anniversary. Among the guests were Mr. and Mrs. Nicholas Holmsen, Mr. and Mrs. C. Mathews Dick, Mr. and Mrs. Claude K. Boettcher, Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Lanfranchi, Mrs. Margaret Emerson, Mr. Joseph E. Widener, Mr. Gurnee Munn and Mr. Milton Holden.

Celebrating the eighty-fourth birthday of Mr. Frank C. Henderson, Mr. and Mrs. Henderson were hosts at a cocktail party at "Land's End," their ocean-front residence, recently.

A huge birthday cake, bearing the dates "1858-1942" and one candle, was the centerpiece at the table. The entire home was decorated with lovely sweetpeas, pink gladioli, pink roses and yellow calla lilies. Mrs. Tailer Carpenter and Mrs. Hamilton Pell presided at the tea tables.

Guests present included Mr. and Mrs. Murray Hoffman, Mr. and Mrs. Theodore W. Stemmler, Mr. and Mrs. Hamilton Pell, Mr. and Mrs. Rene LaMontagne, Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Sears, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Guy A. Thomas, Dr. and Mrs. Edward Sibley, Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Rooney, Mr. and Mrs. James T. Terry, Mr. and Mrs. Francis Newton, Col. and Mrs. LeRay Berdeau, Mr. and Mrs. Gialmi Odescalchi, Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Morrish, Mr. and Mrs. J. Stanley Reeve, Mr. and Mrs. Henry A. Gorman.

Also Mr. and Mrs. Alexander M. Hadden, Major and Mrs. Marcellus Gallop, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Appleton, Mr. and Mrs. Frank C. Kolb, Mr. and Mrs. John L. Volk, Mr. and Mrs. Edward S. Another interesting party in the cottage colony found Mr. and Mrs. Amory Haskell hosts at dinner in their Breakers Row residence to a number of friends. Among their guests were Dr. and Mrs. Leland Eggleston Cofer, Mrs. Theodore Frelinghuysen, Mrs. Alvin T. Hert, Miss Carolyn Trippe, Dr. Edmund LeRoy Dow, Mr. Alexander Phillips, Mr. George Bagby and Mr. John P. S. Harrison.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward G. Bruns, popular members of the cottage colony, have entertained at a number of interesting parties this season at their new Via Bellaria residence. Celebrating Mr. Bruns' birthday anniversary recently, Mr. and Mrs. Bruns were hosts to Dr. and Mrs. B. B. Sory, Mr. and Mrs. James W. McGaughey, Mr. and Mrs. Edmund C. Frisch, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Jenkins, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Leitch, Mr. and Mrs. Robert A. Kennedy, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas J. Shaw, Mr. and Mrs. William G. Minner, Mr. and Mrs. Joshua Howell and others.

Miss Ann Mitchell, popular member of the younger set in Palm Beach and her mother, Mrs. John T. H. Mitchell, have entertained extensively at their lovely home, "Ocean-blown," on the ocean front this season.

At a party given there recently Miss Mitchell and her mother were hostesses to a group of friends at a cocktail party honoring Mr. Arthur Menken, famed newsreel photographer, who had addressed the members of the Palm Beach Round Table earlier in the day.

Tashion Tads & Tancies

Black is appearing as a smart fashion interlude, vying with bright color as a mid-season resort highlight. In formal evening, daytime and casual clothes, black is appearing in entire costumes and as a striking accent. But, it is black with a new verve and dash—the epitome of chic in its subtle treatments. Beachwear has also been affected by this trend, with tile black one of the smartest ideas in swim suits and other sun and surf accessories.

Among the numerous outstandingly chic gowns, noted at the recent National Invitation Backgammon Tournament at the Everglades Club, were a number of striking black creations. Such as Mrs. Margaret Emerson's lovely black lace, topped with a white Russian ermine full-length coat. And Mrs. Dodge Sloane's sleek black satin, accented with bright blue sequin shoulder straps.

Dining at the Chambord one recent evening, Mrs. Louis G. Kaufman looked very chic in a black crepe dinner dress and fingertip-length sable jacket.

Mrs. George A. Eddy also chose black for a recent tea dance on The Breakers Terrace; a black silk faille dress with long-sleeved bolero of self-material. Her perky black hat, veiled in black, added drama to the chic outfit.

Noted in a luncheon party at the Beach Club, Princess Alexis Obolensky III was wearing a wine-red two-piece frock and smart red and white sandals.

Lady Mendl, who has long been considered one of the best-dressed women in the country, chose a chic all-white costume for a cocktail party at the Alibi.

Slacks and slacks suits have assumed a new importance, with the opening of the Gulf Stream Bowling Alleys in Palm Beach. The majority of the socialites prefer slacks for this sport, although many of them appear in evening clothes. Observed bowling one recent evening, Mrs. Davis Crowinshield was wearing a smart poudre blue slacks outfit—the long-torso top, combining white, coral and blue effectively, with the slacks of solid blue. Mrs. Margaret Emerson wore a chic navy and white print slacks costume; Princess Zalstem-Zalessky chose a red sports shirt and red and white checked slacks; Mrs. George Vanderbilt was very smart in navy gabardine slacks and a gay tropical print blouse.

Mrs. Aksel C. P. Wichfeld, who wears slacks almost exclusively for daytime, and to whom they are so becoming, was shopping on Worth Avenue one recent afternoon in a striking three-piece slacks outfit. The slacks were navy blue flannel, topped with a navy and white striped jersey sports shirt and poudre blue suede jacket.

The National Backgammon Tournament at the Everglades Club was a veritable fashion parade of smart gowns and dazzling jewels. Mrs. Woolworth Donahue was gowned in a tunic-styled pastel pink lace creation with long white ermine coat; Mrs. Leonard Ettelson was in a soft rose-colored crepe printed with green leaves, outlined in gold bugle beads, made with fitted bodice and full accordion-pleated skirt, finished with a skirt-length sash of green velvet. Princess Zalstem-Zalessky was charming in a turquoise blue crepe gown whose pockets and shoulders flaunted a gold sequin trim; Mrs. Anja Frelinghuysen wore a smartly simple gown of white lace with ermine fingertip-length jacket. Mrs. E. Stewart Davis wore a colorful creation whose bodice was fashioned of coral and green sequins and the skirt of green net; Mrs. Lawrence Hamilton was lovely in pale blue chiffon, styled with fitted bodice and fullgathered skirt. Her long jacket was silver fox.

Observed in a party at the Gay Nineties Gala on the Breakers Terrace, Mrs. W. A. Snyder was wearing a stunning white dinner ensemble, consisting of a sleek white crepe dress lavishly trimmed with a design in beads and rhinestones with matching bolero; Mrs. William Williams, in aquamarine chiffon and lace; and Mrs. William Bode in an all-white gown with smart rhinestone pattern.

For lunching at the Bath and Tennis Club one chilly day, Mrs. E. F. Swenson wore a chic dusty pink herringbone suit with contrasting accessories. Noted there, the same day, Mrs. James Kennedy was wearing a striking cyclamen pink knitted ribbon frock, accented with black hat, bag and sandals.

Mrs. Alexander Rutherford's periwinkle blue cashmere tailored suit is outstandingly smart. She was observed in a luncheon party at the Beach Club. The Everglades Club Tombola-luncheon-fashion show always brings out a dazzling array of smartly-dressed resorters. At a recent affair, Mrs. Joseph P. Kennedy looked youthfully chic in a white spectator sports frock trimmed with navy blue cord in military effect; her white straw sailor flaunted a navy blue veil.

Princess Marta, wife of the Archduke Franz Josef, wore navy blue flannel slacks and matching sports blouse.

Lady Bradford Leslie was in poudre blue with wide-brimmed hat of black straw trimmed with ostrich feathers.

Mrs. George Luke Mesker, very chic in a red and white print, white sandals and turban.

Mrs. Frank C. Henderson, who was hostess to a large group of friends, was lovely in poudre blue; her woolen top-coat trimmed with a fox collar of the same shade.

Mrs. Alfred Rooney wore a white spectator sports costume with large purple felt hat. Mrs. John Volk was also in white, with accessories of bright red.

Mrs. Tailor Carpenter wore a medium blue jacket-dress.

Mrs. John Gefaell was very smart in a black and white woolen suit, consisting of full-length swagger coat and matching skirt; her sweater and overthe-shoulder handbag, were bright red.

Mrs. David Scott Walker wore a green and white striped jersey frock, white straw sailor with green ostrich trim and jade jewelry. Miss Dorothy Thompson looked very chic in a beige crepe frock, the skirt trimmed with pleated tiers. Mrs. John Lewis Montgomery wore a gay printed dress, highlighted with navy blue hat and sandals.

Mrs. Alexander M. Paul wore an effective ensemble at luncheon at The Breakers one day recently. An aqua and white print dress topped with aqua wool coat lined with the print; turban of the dress fabric.

For lunching at the Alibi, Mrs. Thomas M. Cook wore a striking print costume; dull gold crepe frock printed with huge fruit motifs in white, red, black and gray. The fingertip wool jacket was in the dull gold color, with wide bands of the print trimming the cuffs.

Noted at the cocktail hour at the Chambord, one evening. Mrs. Nicholas Holmson looked very smart in a one-piece beige crepe dress, topped with a stone marten jacket.

Norton Art Gallery Announces Plans for Extensive Educational Work

The painting reproduced in this photograph is beyond doubt an original work by Anthony van Dyck. The picture deserves special interest for its subject matter which may be said to be a 17th century variation of a theme first formulated in Flanders in the 15th century—namely of the Madonna between two music-making angels. (Examples by Campin, Memling, David and Van Dyck's version is not only distinguished from those earlier compositions by the greater fluency of design and coloristic pattern but also by plac-ing the whole scene into the clouds and by combining with it the idea of Christ's victory over sin, symbolized by the serpent which winds itself around the globe of the world. The painting is one of van Dyck's most attractive creations in the field of religious painting and is, moreover, preserved in un-usually fine condition.

F INTEREST TO ART connoisseurs and laity alike is the comprehensive program laid out by the Norton Art Gallery for extensional education work. Enhancing the general public's appreciation of the many fine paintings exhibited at the Norton Art Gallery are the Docents, whose duty it is to accompany visitors about the galleries, either privately or upon days of announced activities, and to explain the real meanings of the works of art found there.

These Docents are an interesting group, largely drawn upon from the Junior Welfare League of the Palm Beaches, an organization of young women awake to the importance of their job and eager to impart the information and inspiration they have received through the Docent Training Class, which meets at the Gallery for a two-hour session in art appreciation each Monday morning, under the leadership of members of the faculty and the staff of the Norton Art Gallery and School of Art.

Mrs. Hubert F. Krantz, chairman of the Educational Committee, has organized what is known as Traveling Exhibitions. To facilitate this vitally important work, Mr. and Mrs. Norton, founders of the Gallery, have generously presented the Gallery with a fine Artmobile, one of the uses of which is to carry to other parts of Florida, original paintings and famous reproductions of paintings which have been contributed by the artists or patrons.

Lectures illustrated by screen projections are arranged by the lecture chairman, Dr. Beaman Douglass, and are given by staff and faculty members and by talented visitors.

One of the most appreciated courses is the one especially designed for the teachers of Palm Beach County. This course incidentally is not limited to teachers, though created with the idea in mind of reaching them, for the general public is invited to attend each Wednesday afternoon at 4:30 o'clock. The purpose of this course is to spread the influence of the Fine Arts through the county, by means of inspiring and reviving in the minds of the teachers the facts of the beaux arts which they may have forgotten or relegated to the background temporarily.

At intervals during the winter season concerts are given in Pioneer Hall, arranged by Irma Blake Effinger, the music chairman of the Art League, who is a brilliant musician, well known for her splendid contributions to the musical life of the community. Recently presented were Earle Spicer, noted baritone and America's foremost ballad singer; Dorothy Riaboukha, concert pianist and instructor in piano at the Norton School of Art; Alice Lee Bourne, highly gifted harpist; and Lucy Marshall, contralto, pupil of Madame Louise Homer, accompanied by Daphne Takach and Pat Dunn, nationally noted baritone of Kansas City.

Hundreds of children as well as adults come to the Gallery from outlying resort towns for a conducted tour of the Galleries. Members of the staff and faculty participate in making these tours a source of education and inspiration. Special mention should be made in this connection of Mr.

John Glendining of the Gallery staff.

The Norton Art Library is an important adjunct to the educational work. It is a comfortably and beautifully appointed room, scientifically lighted and well ordered. The books are arranged on cypress shelves showing the lovely grain of this native Florida wood. Here are to be found copies of the best works the artist has produced.

Mrs. Josephine E. Holmes of Boston, owner and producer of New London Players of New Hampshire and director of the Department of Drama and Speech at the Norton School of Art, has organized the Civic Repertory Company, composed of talented local residents and visitors to the Palm Beaches. On March 7th, Mrs. Holmes presented the first play of the season in Pioneer Hall, and the company scored under her able direction in the Broadway comedy, "You Can't Take It With You." Mrs. Holmes also conducts a class in speech fundamentals and dramatics.

On March 11th, the 24th annual exhibition was opened with a preview and reception and the show will continue in the new galleries through March 31st. The sculpture is displayed on the cloistered patio which is beautifully landscaped.

Among the most interesting classes were Eliot O'Hara's courses in the watercolor. J. Clinton Shepherd, resident instructor, conducts classes in sculpture portrait and figure painting, outdoor landscape and life-drawing as well as the children's art class. Mary C. McQuaid, who came from New York to join the faculty, conducts classes in decorative design, posters and lettering. There are also classes in fashion design, taught by Helena Williams, and Spanish, taught by C. A. Montoya; piano by Dorothy Riaboukha and Cyrus Ullian and voice by Basile Riaboukha.

Registrations continue daily and this summer, additional classes will be added to the schedule, such as courses in short story, journalism, architectural drawing, etching and others for which as many as six requests from the community are made. One hundred and eighty-five enrollments were made in 1941, the first summer session of the Norton School of Art.

Each month the members of the Palm Beach Art League, of which Mr. Ralph B. Wagner is president, hold a program meeting in Pioneer Hall, for the educational and inspirational benefit of its members. Outstanding speakers and musicians are presented and a number of demonstrated and illustrated lectures have been given.

The Norton School of Art offers winter and summer sessions, for short and long terms, at nominal tuition rates. There are classes for amateur or professional, for children or adults.

Children are as welcome as adults at the Norton Gallery and School of Art and in various ways form an integral part of its activities. Classes and gallery tours for children have been mentioned. Recitals and plays are also sponsored. It is the policy of the league to invite a repeat performance of programs which the children of public or private schools have done exceptionally well.

"Living pictures" was presented by the Palm Beach Private School; Louis Hooker, who sings and plays the violin equally well, was presented in a recital. Carmen Montoya, youthful singer, and the Romany Tads also gave a recital.

The Rosarian Academy presented a play.

The productions by the Children's Theatre of several plays at Pioneer Hall under the management of Mrs. Marshall B. Wood and Miss Marie Bassett were highlights of the artistic program at Norton Art Gallery.

The cultural influences of the beautiful patio of Norton Art Gallery can not be overlooked. The cloistered construction, which surrounds a typical old world court, makes the sunshine and the sky even more vivid than nature has fashioned it. From the shade of the cloisters, one looks out upon the green sward, geometrically divided by paths and in the very center stands the inspiring statue "Youth Refound," one of the eminent Sculptor Wheeler Williams' best works.

From a pool of crystal waters, emerges the pedestal, upon which stands the figure of a radiant young woman. She has been old, but having drunk of the water of the Fountain of Youth, so eagerly sought for by Ponce de Leon, she has rejuvenated herself, casting off the figure of age, which is represented by a mask in her right hand, and she is looking into the future . . . truly emblematic of the spirit that motivates the entire organization at Norton Art Gallery.

A section of the faculty exhibition of the Norton School of Art, shown in one of the recently completed galleries contributed by Mr. and Mrs. Ralph H. Norton for the showing of current exhibitions. The work on the wall is by J. Clinton Shepherd, whose two models for a fountain are shown also. Mr. Shepherd teaches landscape, life drawing and sculpture at the Norton School of Art.

UCH OF THE GLAMOR of Palm Beach continues to revolve about social activities at Whitehall—the cocktail hours, the gala dinners, the luncheons on the sun-splashed terrace, followed by bridge and gin-rummy—the evening card tournaments—all are typical of Palm Beach at its brightest and best.

One resort scene to linger long and pleasantly in the memory is of the massive front entrance to Whitehall on a lovely afternoon in spring . . . Overhead a sky as blue as a cloisonne bowl. Sunshine glinting on the thousands of pink begonias that outline the curving walks in the formal gardens . . . Long shiny cars from which smartly-dressed colonists alight . . . Wheel chairs propelled by dusky boys, stopping at the marble steps . . . Laughter, gayety, color, as society wends its way to the Jardin Royal or the Palm Court for the cocktail hour.

As the spring advances, the Jardin Royal once more affords a setting of incomparable beauty for the tea and cocktail hours. And if a crystal rain descends, there is always the beautiful Palm Court where the music and the dance floor also vie with one another in smoothness.

Among those recently attending a Whitehall cocktail hour were Sir George and Lady Bettesworth-Piggott. Lady Bettesworth-Piggott was charming in a print frock, bright flowers in small design on a background of soft gray.

Mrs. William F. Ladd, the former Joan Kaufman, often comes to Whitehall to hear Nick D'Amico and his orchestra play her latest composition, "Even Though." The other day

Mr. and Mrs. William F. Ladd of 317 Sunset Avenue snapped during the cocktail hour at Whitehall.

Mrs. Ladd wore an ensemble in sunshiny yellow, with a scarf in bold patterns. She wears her dark curly hair long on her shoulders.

Dixie Dunbar, the little Atlanta dancer who made good on Broadway and in Hollywood, was dancing in the Palm Court with her husband, Gene Snyder, recently. Miss Dunbar looked just like a high school girl in a frock of powder blue with a bright red jacket. Mrs. L. H. P. Klotz of Trenton, N. J., who is spending the season at Whitehall, effects unusually smart tailleurs for day-time wear. At a recent Whitehall Gala, however, she wore a dream-frock of diaphanous tulle in which three shades of yellow blended into one another. The basque was tight and the skirt looked as though it might have used up thousands of yards of material.

A Gala evening at Whitehall recently was marked by a Plantation Party. For this occasion decorations, dancing and music all made a low salaam to the deep South. The entire wall of the Palm Court back of the orchestra was covered with a huge panoramic painting depicting a cabin in the cotton. There were bales of cotton, and Spanish moss hanging from the potted palms to give added atmosphere. Nick D'Amico and his orchestra played southern airs in waltz time. Beautiful Sara Ann McCabe included a Negro Spiritual in her numbers. George Shelley, master of ceremonies, with a perfect southern accent, donned especially for the occasion, proved himself an able and agreeable young actor. Nick D'Amico's violin solos at these Galas are particularly enjoyed. He is always called back for at least two en-

On March 14 the Evening Gala at Whitehall was a merry St. Patrick's party, when Palm Beach society accepted the invitation to "Come Back to Erin."

The Sun and Surf Club was the delightful setting recently of a buffet dinner which that popular resorter, Capt. Luigi Signorini gave in honor of Mrs. W. Earl Dodge of New York. The guest list simply bristled with titles and headline names, but it was one of the most informal and enjoyable events of the season.

The Palm Beach Country Club also continues to attract top-flight celebrities and top-flight players. A recent foursome noted playing there included George Allen, former commissioner of the District of Columbia, Stephen Early, secretary to President Roosevelt, the Hon. Joseph E. Davies and Senator Millard Tydings of Maryland.

Recent Whitehall arrivals from New York City include: Mr. and Mrs. Beverly Bogert, the Marquise de Villeroy, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Bloch, Mr. Raymond Schundler, Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Parker, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Lehman, Mr. Charles Hussey, Mr. William J. Connolly, Mr. and Mrs. Jacques Gerard, Mrs. W. E. Williamson, Mrs. J. O. Williamson Sachs, Mr. and Mrs. Seymour R. Askin, Miss Georgie Theiler, Mr. Albert C. Trant, Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence E. Simon, Mr. Lewis J. Silverman, Mrs. Sidney Raike, Mr. and Mrs. Ricardo

Also Mr. Charles Hughes, Detroit; Mrs. Ruth A. Wendt, Pelham, N. Y.; Mr. and Mrs. A. T. Alexander, Chicago; Mr. D. W. Beyer, Baltimore, Md.; Mr. Neil Mack, Mr. W. T. Bradshaw, Col. Robert G. Elbert, Washington, D. C.; Mrs. Joseph Tillman and Mrs. Harry Setzer, Toledo, Ohio; Gordan Mandalanda Blandfield, Hills, Mich. Mrs. Kathryn, C. don Mendelssohn, Bloomfield, Hills, Mich.; Mrs. Kathryn C. Fuqua and Miss Kathryn Fuqua, Washington; Mr. James B. Casey, Lowell, Mass.; Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Waterbury, Palm Beach; Mr. Jerome G. Trowe, Chicago; Mr. and Mrs. W. P. Kaven, Lynchburg, Va.; Mr. and Mrs. Allen Joslin, Cincinnati; and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Faissole, Englewood, N. J.

The informal gayety of the Palm Beach Biltmore has been enhanced during the past week by a spontaneous round of entertainment provided by Broadway stars who came to Palm Beach for the Kiwanis Benefit remaining over at the Biltmore for a holiday.

Invited to participate in this unrehearsed series of floor shows by Bob McGrew, orchestra maestro, these celebrities have entered into the beaux spirits of both the cocktail and after-dinner dancing hours, attracting many colonists to the popular Cascades Bar.

One of the most delightful contributors to the current festivity has been the petite dancer, Patricia Bowman, who with her mother, Mrs. E. N. Bowman, is vacationing at the Biltmore before embarking on a new Broadway engagement. The delectable Patricia did the rhumba for the guests upon several occasions, clowning with Al Trahan, well-known piano comedian. Nina Varela and Al Trahan have been nightly entertainers in these unrehearsed floor shows.

Biltmore guests have also had the privilege of hearing the young seven-year-old prodigy pianist, Richard Korbel, who played many times a day during his visit at the hotel. This boy sensation, who will soon make his debut in New York Town Hall, learned to play the piano at the age of 3, and has such an extraordinary sense of pitch that he can pick out an intricate combination of notes with his back turned.

Among those enjoying the continuous round of festivity has been a group of prominent New York sportsmen called the New York Athletic Club Anglers, who are at the Biltmore for their second season for some intensive fishing in the Gulfstream, with a little golf and a day at Hialeah added for variety. In the party are James J. Nolan, Fred A. Sansome, Lawrence Durkin, Julian Soubiran, Walter J. Ryan, John Dessing, Herbert D. Lewis, Dr. C. Perley Gray and Robert

Herbert D. Lewis, Jr., who is stationed at the Naval Aviation Base in Avon, Florida, spent the week-end with his father before returning to his post.

The Sunday night buffet, which has become one of the "musts" in Palm Beach entertaining, has been exceedingly well attended with many guests recruited from the villa and cottage colony ranks. Much interest has been shown in the ingenious ice carvings which form the center for the entrancing table decors. A four-foot American Eagle chiseled out of ice by the chef artist was the model for last week's centerpiece. Following supper, demi tasse was served in the Andalusian Lounge while Bob McGrew and his orchestra gave an hour's concert.

With the departure of a few season visitors, there is a constant influx from points east and south.

One of the interesting guests is John H. Cheek of the famous Maxwell House Coffee family. Mr. Cheek is the brother of Mrs. Herbert Farrell of the villa set. Here from

New York are Robert L. Leeds and Harry Thoens.

In the new arrivals from Massachusetts are Jack Mc-Carthy, Mrs. P. U. Pappas and daughter, Mary; Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Sargent. Mr. William H. McLeod, who has been a season guest with his family, left for his home in Newtonville, Mass., with son, William, and will rejoin Mrs. McLeod and daughter, Miss Nancy, later in the season.

Other interesting guests recently arrived are Mrs. Harold F. George, Birmingham, Mich.; Mr. John Montgomery, New York City; Mr. George MacDonald, Miami Biltmore; Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Byrne, Joseph C. Bland, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Devitt, the Rev. A. F. Driscoll and Miss Mae O'Connell of Bridgeport, Conn.

Smart Restaurants In The Palm Beaches

NE OF THE BEST BAROMETERS of this season's social scene has been Ted Stone's Ta-boo, that ultra-smart rendezvous for wining and dining that rocketed to an exciting success in a short period of weeks and now holds claim to absolute tops in food, drink and clientele.

What amounts to a daily invasion of interesting resorters, colonists and vacationers takes place beginning with Taboo's delightful luncheon buffet. For wonderful food from a distinctive French cuisine, eaten in leisurely fashion, the Ta-boo way of being luncheon host is delighting scores of patrons accustomed to the best in food and, its necessary accompaniment, good service. Later in the day, Ta-boo's famous cocktail hour presents a scene of smartness rarely met with in books or movies! To see or be seen at this hour in Ta-boo is, in itself, a gay and distinguished pastime to most fashionable islanders. A substantial and festive crowd always greets Ta-boo's dinner hour when reservations include many important colonists. The mouth-watering chops and steaks may be charcoal-broiled under some very aristocratic noses indeed. Evenings in Ta-boo are long and casual with friendly groups dotting the beautiful lounge and flood-lighted

Reflecting the tempo and style of Ta-boo's cocktail hour was a recent party given by Mrs. Catherine M. Legget honoring Mr. and Mrs. Frank C. Henderson, whose guests included Mr. and Mrs. Hamilton Pell, Mr. and Mrs. Noel Marshall Seeburg, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Dean, Major and Mrs. Marcellus Gallop, Mr. and Mrs. Robert O. Sinclaire, Dr. and Mrs. John Griggs, Mr. and Mrs. William B. Cleland, Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Royce Kent, Mr. and Mrs. Donald Pierce, Mrs. Ellsworth C. Warner, Mrs. DaCamara Morrison, Mrs. Robert Jerome Faulkner and Mrs. Ralph Crane.

A luncheon party was given that day by Mr. and Mrs. J. Burton Ayers of Hobe Sound. Mrs. C. Henry Buhl lunched with Mrs. Jack Salisbury. Commodore and Mrs. E.

Townsend Irvin were a familiar twosome.

Mr. Maurice Fatio, Mr. and Mrs. Jose de Landa, and Dr. J. J. Eller were a foursome at cocktails. Mrs. Bror Dahlburg, recently arrived in the resort, lunched with her son, Mr. Michael Dahlburg. Commodore C. F. Luckenbach was noted with Mr. and Mrs. John Engles. Often seen at the cocktail hour is Mr. Charles Wrightsman, the polo enthusiast. Mrs. Frank Wallace Eaton entertained Mrs. Forrester Gries, Mr. and Mrs. William Rabe and others.

Miss Joanna Fortune, Mrs. M. Griffith, Mr. and Mrs. Cyril Norton and Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Gore were together. Mrs. Wooly-Hart was seen at cocktails with Prince Michael Evlanoff and Mr. Kyril Vassilev. Mr. and Mrs. Archibald McNeil, Mr. and Mrs. M. Geffen and Mr. and Mrs. J. Guinane were together. Mrs. Kim Moran and Miss Mary Frances Conklin were with Mr. Harvey Turnure and Mr. and Mrs. B. F. Black. The Thomas Royals were at lunch with Dr. and Mrs. G. M. Dorrance and Mrs. J. T. Dorrance. Mr. and Mrs. C. G. Welch from Boca Raton made an attractive twosome.

Ex-Governor Alvan T. Fuller of Boston, Miss Lydia Fuller and Mr. and Mrs. Alvan T. Fuller, Jr., are frequent Ta-boo guests during their stay in Palm Beach. Many of the star performers of the Kiwanis Benefit were noted in Taboo during their stay in the resort, among them Mr. and Mrs. Larry Adler with Dr. Eric Matiner. Miss Adelaide Moffett, Mrs. Sam Harris and Mr. Pat Watson were together. Baroness de Sterneck included Mrs. Henrietta Montgomery in her group at cocktails. Mrs. Munro Leaf was with Mrs. Don Blanding, Miss Beatrice Benney and Mrs. Ralph Yong at luncheon recently. One smart dinner party included Miss Jacqueline Weyenberg, Mr. and Mrs. William Snyder, Dr. and Mrs. W. O. Smith, Miss Joan Given, Mr. and Mrs. S. B. Marsten and others.

Mr. and Mrs. Bennet Chapple shared a patio table at luncheon with Mr. and Mrs. Charles Deyo. Mrs. Ralph Crane gave a small cocktail party and Mr. and Mrs. S. Newman gave a dinner party as did Mr. George Seidler recently. Princess Alexis Obolensky and her mother, Mrs. George D. Lilly of Miami Beach were in a group which included Miss

"Vivi" Stokes and Mr. Martin Quinn.

ID-MARCH TAKES on the appearance of Mid-Season in Palm Beach as the island's smart restaurants are filled to capacity with members of the social colony during the luncheon, cocktail and dinner hours. Worth Avenue, Palm Beach's famous shopping center, becomes brighter and busier each day, with the resort's visitors and residents sporting colorful raiment and dashing sports habiliments in a return to the former mode of life that made this winter resort the most interesting spot in America.

Palm Beach's favorite Alibi takes on new color and zest with the presentation of radio and the Hotel Pierre's famous duo-pianists, Pliner and Earle, with these talented musicians scoring a tremendous hit with the smart clientele at Captain Alastair Mackintosh's renowned gathering spot for the smart set.

Many of the smart crowd who turned out for Pliner and Earle's opening engagement at the Alibi came in for cocktails and stayed over for one of the delicious Steak and Chop Dinners for which the Alibi is rapidly attaining new fame. Both the Genii Lounge and the beautiful tropical patio of the Alibi were crowded to capacity during the cocktail hours, with many coming in for dinner later in the evening.

Among the many attractive cocktail gatherings was a party given in honor of Countess Helene Chlapowska by Captain Alastair Mackintosh. Other guests were Mrs. George Luke Mesker and Mr. Lytle Hull. His dinner guests were Mr. and Mrs. E. Steuart Davis, Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Black, Major and Mrs. Eric Loder and Mr. Harrison Williams.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Masten had among their guests Mr. and Mrs. James Cheek, Mrs. Sidney B. Silleck, Mrs. W. E. Vose, Miss Joanna Fortune, Mr. Kyril Vassilev and others.

Mr. Jules Bache was host to Sir Charles and Lady Mendl and several others at dinner. Mrs. Lorenzo E. Woodhouse gave a small party. With Mr. J. Gordon Douglas were Mrs. Wesson Seyburn, Mrs. Dodge Sloane, Mr. Milton W. Holden. Mr. and Mrs. Claude K. Boettcher dropped in with Mr. and Mrs. Nicholas Holmsen, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Brooks and Mr. and Mrs. C. Mathews Dick.

Mr. and Mrs. Claude Arpels gave a party in honor of Mrs. Marie Pons. Their guests included Prince Phillipe de Bourbon, Prince and Princess Gialmi Odescalchi and others. Prince and Princess Irbain Kaplanoff were hosts to Mr. and Mrs. George de Peyster, Mr. and Mrs. James de Peyster, Mrs. John W. Colfelt, Mrs. John Montgomery, Prince and Princess Alexis Obolensky and others.

Guests of Mr. and Mrs. Ted Bassett were Mr. and Mrs. Edward V. Quinn, Mr. and Mrs. Marshall Heminway and Mrs. J. Jay O'Brien. Col. Hugh Bayne entertained for Mr. Charles Alexander, Mr. Laughlin Alexander, Mr. Hugh Bayne, Jr., and Mr. Edmund Sheedy. With Mr. Woolworth Donahue were Mrs. Brice Pinder, Mr. Clemente Ballen, Mr. Manuel Cervantes, Mr. and Mrs. A. Parker Bryant and Mr. and Mrs. John W. Peck.

Countess de Gennes gave a small party honoring Miss Joanna Fortune. Prince and Princess Zalstem-Zalessky, Mr. and Mrs. James McGaughey, Mrs. Wooley-Hart and Sidney B. Silleck were among others entertaining at cocktails during the evening.

Among others giving attractive dinner parties were Mr. John McVickers, Mr. and Mrs. Nathaniel Hill, Col. Herbert Klotz, Mrs. Cyril Norton, Mr. Edward Hill, Mr. and Mrs. Neil Willard, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Anderson Goman, Mr. and Mrs. Edmond Frisch, Mr. and Mrs. Lars Christianson, Mr. Wellington Welles, Mr. Harold Fitzgerald, Mr. William Christenson, Mr. Frank Sullivan, Mr. Charles Bradley, Mrs. Henry Candler, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Schur, Mr. and Mrs. George Vanderbilt, Mr. E. Leonard Beard, Mr. Jarrold West, Mrs. Martha Boyd-Aberdeen, Mr. and Mrs. George Doubleday, Mr. and Mrs. J. Lester Parsons, Mr. and Mrs. Henry K. Harding and others.

Doris Doe, Palm Beach's Own Metropolitan Star on Concert Tour

ALM BEACH'S own Doris Doe, the girl with the cello voice, who has scaled the operatic heights in an inspiring American saga of accomplishment, continues to make musical history in the operatic world. Having won the acclaim of audiences and critics throughout the continent and having earned a niche of her own in the august Metropolitan Opera Company, Miss Doe's latest conquests have been with the famed National Concerts and Artists Corporation.

Her first appearance with this noted musical organization was at a dinner given under the auspices of the Republican members of Congress and the League of Republican Women in Washington on February 11, where she was introduced by Congresswoman Frances P. Bolton. Miss Doe sang a series of patriotic songs with the beauty of voice and artistry of expression that has carried her to the peak of the operatic world.

Among the nationally known speakers at the dinner were former Governor Alfred M. Landon of Kansas, Representative Joseph W. Martin, Jr., minority leader of the House; Representative Francis P. Bolton and former Senator James E. Watson.

Following this appearance Miss Doe was acclaimed at a benefit performance for the U. S. Coast Guard, and on February 22, she sang an offertory solo at the Lenten Services in the Church of the Heavenly Rest in New York City.

Doris Doe is as All-American as her name implies. She was born in Bar Harbor, Maine, of French, Welsh and English ancestry. Singing was a family inheritance to her, her great-grandfather was head of the Philadelphia Singing School, her grandfather was an oratorio singer and her mother, Mrs. John Watson Doe, a pianist of note.

Miss Doe spent her formative years in Palm Beach, with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Watson Doe, acquiring her early training in voice here and singing in the choir of local churches prior to her going to Chicago to study at the Lyceum Arts Conservatory at the age of sixteen.

She doubled at the University of Chicago during her musical training at the Lyceum Arts Conservatory, for her language training and general education. During the summers she toured in Chautauqua concerts and opera and returned to her studies in the fall.

Upon the completion of her education, Miss Doe was engaged for church work in Chicago, with the Apollo Club, with the Chicago Symphony Orchestra, and as leading soloist at the North Shore Festivals. Within several years, she was acknowledged as one of Chicago's finest and most popular singers, in constant demand for concerts, solo appearances and operatic performances.

Her first step up the musical ladder after leaving Chicago was an engagement for a church solo-spot in New York City, where she attracted the attention of Frank LaForge, well-known musical coach. He arranged to have her earn lessons by singing for his classes, and accompanied her for her first New York recital some weeks later.

The following winter, at Palm Beach, Doris was invited to sing at a society tea. As usual, her singing was superb, and, spontaneously the guests at the tea raised $10,000 to send Doris to Germany to learn the Wagnerian repertoire.

She studied in Germany for two years, steeping herself in the Wagnerian tradition, and learning all of the contralto roles in the repertoire. She highlighted her training period with concerts in Berlin, in Cologne, in Paris, and in Monte Carlo. Miss Doe made her debut at the State Opera in Dresden exactly two years after her arrival in Germany. She sang the role of Erda in "Das Rheingold," which, oddly enough, was the same role, the same house and the same opera, which Schumann-Heinck had made her debut in opera, many years before.

Arturo Bodansky, the late conductor of the Metropolitan Opera Company, was in Europe at the time, and requested Doris Doe to audition for him. She was happy to sing for him, but was adamant in her refusal to sign with the Metropolitan until she felt she was ready. On Bodansky's suggestion, Gatti-Casazza sent the youthful singer railway fare to Milan, so he could hear her in a special audition. With such an invitation, Doris left for Italy, sang for the great Metropolitan impressario and signed a contract. She has been with the company each season since then, and has sung all of the contralto roles in the German repertoire, as well as most of the French and Italian characterizations in her voice range.

Miss Doe sings more than fifty-six roles at the opera, and is still required to learn two or three new ones each season. She has sung the parts of Ortrud, Fricka, Erda, Amneris, the mother in Louise, Laura in La Gioconda and Brangaene in Tristan and Isolde. The last role is her favorite.

Because of her amazing repertoire, and her ability to step into a part on an hour's notice, Doris Doe has been called upon to sing a role, often with no more than sixty minutes preparation. She is so accustomed to it, that she never leaves New York for a concert or opera tour, without taking extra costumes and music along, regardless of whether she is scheduled to sing only a part of her extensive repertoire.

Sports Hit Stride In Resort Colony

PORTS HIT ITS FULL STRIDE last week in the resort, highlighted by the Sixth Annual Victory Tournament at the famed Seminole Club.

Attracting national interest the tournament was a two-day affair, with 52 of the nation's top-flight professionals playing a medal tourney on Thursday and well-known resort amateurs teaming with them on Friday in the best ball four-some event.

Members of the tournament committee which did such excellent work in putting on the event included Col. Latham R. Reed, Elmer Rich, Oscar W. Johnson and Col. James Brady Mitchell.

A portion of the net proceeds was shared between the Good Samaritan Hospital, St. Mary's Hospital and the Unified Drive.

Amateur entries included Ellsworth C. Alvord, Theodore Bassett, E. Leonard Beard, Jr., Col. Leray Berdeau, Peter Berkey, Reginald Boardman, G. H. "Pete" Bostwick, Thomas M. Carnegie, Malcolm C. Chase, Jr., Antonio Chopitea, Charles Francis Coe, John Coleman, Dr. Charles Crocker, Professional entries include Harry Adams, Tommy Armour, Herman Barron, Al Brosch, Joe Brown, Billy Burke, Sam Byrd, Harry Cooper, Bobby Cruickshank, Jimmy Demeret, Jack Drucker, Johnny Farrell, Jim Ferrier, Alec Girard, Jr., Willie Goggin, Jack Grout, Ralph Guldahl, Clayton Haefner, Chick Harbert, Claude Harmon, Chandler Harper, Dutch Harrison, Jimmy Hines, Ben Hogan, Willie Klein, Lee Kosten, Ky Lafoon, Lawson Little, Ben Loving, Tony Manero, Lloyd Mangrum, Bill Nary, Byron Nelson, Sam Parks, Jack Patroni, Charlie Penna, Tony Penna, Phil Perkins, Henry Picard, Harry Ransom, Johnny Revolta, Paul Runyon, Gene Sarazen, Felix Serafin, Denny Shute, Sam Snead, Marvin Stahl, Frank Strazza, Jimmy Thompson, Clyde Usina, Jr., Craig Wood and Nelson Young.

Tommy Goodwin, New York and Palm Beach golfer and defending champion, copped the medal in the Annual Men's Championship of Palm Beach when he chalked up a 74 for the 18-hole round over the Palm Beach Golf Club course.

Two well known local linksters and one newcomer shared scores of 75 for runner-up honors. These were James H. Howard, Framington, Mass., Old Guard member; Leon R. Sikes, West Palm Beach tournament golfer, and W. Behrens, Nutley, N. J., sharpshooter.

Goodwin was one over and one under on the out-nine to equal club figures with a 35 but on the back round, he took a six on the 10th and three fives to go four over par.

Summary—Qualifying Scores:

Tommy Goodwin, Palm Beach, 35-39—74; Leon R. Sikes, West Palm Beach, 37-38—75; W. Behrens, Nutley, N. J., 39-36—75; James H. Tennis Week at the Bath and Tennis Club came to an end when John Vanneck, singles titles winner, teamed with Raymond Kunkel, singles finalist, to win the men's doubles division, defeating Jesse Spalding and A. Parker Bryant, 6-3, 6-3, 8-6.

Miss Gloria Butler won the women's singles the day previous when she defeated Mrs. A. Parker Bryant, 6-4, 6-1.

Miss Butler also teamed with Princess Camilla Rospigliosi to take the women's doubles play defeating Mrs. A. Parker Bryant and Miss Jeanne White, 6-4, 4-6, 6-1 on the same day.

Mixed doubles honors went to Miss Butler and Vanneck, winners of the women's and men's singles titles respectively, on Saturday when they turned back the court bid of Mr. and Mrs. A. Parker Bryant, 6-4, 6-3.

For the first time in 31 years, one of the most colorful events of the Palm Beach sporting season will not be held this year.

What would have been the 32nd Annual Society baseba!l game for the benefit of the Palm Beach Police Pension Fund, has been postponed this season according to an announcement made by Chief Joseph Borman of the Palm Beach Police.

Chief Borman said, "We regret the event cannot be held this year forcing a break in what has always been one of the important features of the winter season. However, with all members of the force working to full capacity during the present emergency, and so many young men of the social colony in the armed services, it would be impossible to present a game that would attract the interest of former years."

In making the statement, Chief Borman issued a full financial report of the Palm Beach Police Pension Fund. He stated that those desiring to make contributions to the fund, as in former years could do so by mailing checks to the Police Department or to Mr. Bert C. Teed, treasurer of the fund, who is also vice-president of the First National Bank in Palm Beach.

Such contributions are deductible from income taxes, and will be most appreciated, as the need for the fund is becoming greater than ever.

Money from the fund has been wisely invested to produce the largest income possible under present conditions. The fund is for the purpose of aiding officers incapacitated in the line of duty or those reaching retirement age.

Mr. and Mrs. Hamilton Pell won the regular Sunday afternoon tombstone tournament at the Seminole Club when they finished six feet from the 10th hole in their allotted number of strokes.

Mrs. George W. Vanderbilt and Milton W. Holden won runner-up honors when they went over the 10th green and Mrs. Charles Francis Coe and B. L. Taylor were in third position 250 yards on the 10th fairway.

Prizes for the event were donated by Mr. J. Gordon Douglas, with ideal playing conditions prevailing for the tourney.

Others taking part were Mr. and Mrs. Marion Sims Wyeth, Mr. and Mrs. James Snowden, Mrs. Larry Lloyd and Laurens M. Hamilton, Mrs. Laurens M. Hamilton and Larry Lloyd, Mr. and Mrs. Dewitt Sage, Mrs. Guy Hiddingh and J. Coleman, Mrs. Michael Phipps and J. J. Daly, Mrs. Joseph P. Kennedy and Ted O'Leary, Mr. and Mrs. G. H. Bostwick, Mr. and Mrs. James F. Curtis, Jr., Mrs. Wesson Seyburn and J. Gordon Douglas, Mrs. Dodge Sloane and Col. Latham R. Reed, Mr. and Mrs. Leonard S. Mudge, Mr. and Mrs. Malcolm G. Chace, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Legendre, Mr. and Mrs. Morris Legendre.

CCUPYING AN IMPORTANT position in the entertainment scene at Palm Beach, the world-famous Patio offers delightful divertissement, varied and popular, combined with Val Ernie's dance-compelling rhythm and the delectable cuisine of Eugene, the King of Food.

Wednesday and Saturday night galas have provided leading stars in the field of entertainment, while Patio party nights, balloon showers of hidden treasure and lucky star nights offer unique diversion. Sunday evening's beef steak parties place the accent on food.

Gin rummy on Thursday afternoons during the cocktail interval and the Monday night backgammon tournaments give devotees of these popular games the opportunity of meeting formidable opponents among their friends in the resort colony.

Gay groups have been attending the dinner and supper galas, remaining until the wee hours, dancing under the stars underneath a tropical moon.

Mrs. James P. Donahue was observed at an umbrella table with her son, Mr. James P. Donahue, Prince Holenstraus and Mr. Gurnee Munn.

Another interesting party was that including Mr. F. Homer Smith, Air Commander Medhurst of the RFC, Commander J. M. L. Rutherfurd, Cecil Field, Jacksonville, and Mrs. Rutherfurd, Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Black, Mr. and Mrs. E. Steuart Davis, Major and Mrs. Eric Loder.

Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Sanford were observed with Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Legendre and Mr. and Mrs. J. Morris Legendre, Mr. and Mrs. Armand Legendre.

At another dance floor table were Miss Dorothy Thompson, Mr. Tommy Goodwin, Mr. D. Dulany Hunter, Mr. Clemente Ballin and Mr. Woolworth Donahue.

Mr. Samuel S. Sanford was present with Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Muller and nearby were Mr. and Mrs. Edward V. Quinn and Mr. and Mrs. Ernst Lehmann.

Mr. and Mrs. Archibald MacNeil, Jr., were at dinner with Mr. and Mrs. Maxwell Geffens and Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Paley were with Mrs. Edwin Goodman.

Mr. Christopher Connell was noted with Mrs. Samuel Cole and Mrs. Irene Woodworth and Mr. and Mrs. John Robert Powers dropped in for the supper interval with Mr. and Mrs. Harry Schur.

Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Royce Kent were hosts to Mr. and Mrs. Donald C. Pierce, Mr. and Mrs. Ira Follette Warner, Mr. J. Gerard and Madame Rodensky.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Valier and Ensign Biron Valier and Miss Robin Valier formed a foursome of the younger set.

Among many others noted in various parties were Mrs. Antoinette Johnson and Mr. Robert Rasmussen, Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Feltman, Mr. and Mrs. William C. Demuth, Miss Vivian Stokes and Mr. Frazier Jelke, Miss Betty Munson and Mr. George T. McCarthy, III, Mr. and Mrs. Blaine Webb, Mr. and Mrs. Nicholas Holmsen, Baron George Wrangell, Mrs. James Norman Hill, Mr. and Mrs. J. Gordon Douglas, Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Bassett.

Also Mr. and Mrs. E. Townsend Ervin, Mr. and Mrs.

Noel Marshall Seeburg, Archduke Felix and Archduke Otto, Miss Nedenia Hutton, Mr. Ralph Webber, Miss Elritta Bartholomew, Mr. Marcel Gotschi, Mr. William Wessel, Mr. L. C. Bigelow, Mrs. C. P. Whitehead, Mr. Martin Straus, Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Javits, Mr. Harry Jones, Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Kelly, Mr. William Rovensky, Mr. Andrew Clough, Miss Marian Anderson, Miss Francine Borc, Mr. Kyril Vassilev, Captain Frederick Collin, Mr. Martin Quinn and many more.

The South Ocean Club, whose climb in two short seasons to a high place among resort institutions is phenomenal, has been a favorite rendezvous for smart colonists from Palm Beach and the neighboring towns of Manalapan, Delray Beach and Hobe Sound. At times taxing the capacity of the marine dining room and the famous Headhunter Lounge have been the throngs of fashionable residents and visitors gathering during the dinner and supper hours.

Mr. and Mrs. Martin F. Tiernan of Essex Falls, N. J., and the Breakers, were hosts at the South Ocean Club for dinner. Their guests were Judge and Mrs. George K. Long, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Morris, Mr. and Mrs. John E. Judson, Mr. and Mrs. Loren Wood, Mr. and Mrs. Dwight Palmer, Mrs. H. J. Forsythe and Mrs. George Sully, Jr.

Mr. Jules S. Bache entertained there for supper a night for two before, his guests including the Archduke and Archduchess Franz Josef of Austria. Mr. H. Hood Bassett was a supper host to Mr. and Mrs. Robert Adams Carr of Chicago, who were guests at La Boliche, the home of Mrs. Grant Warren Spear; also Miss Josephine Eschelman and Mr. H. A. Eschelman. Prince Archil Gourielli, a participant in many of the club's backgammon tourneys, entertained Mrs. Anja Frelinghuysen. Miss Marian Buckley and Miss Elizabeth Coleman were noted with other members of the younger set

Mr. and Mrs. Irwin B. Kerr of New York, guests of his aunt, Mrs. Charles H. Randle, were honored at a dinner for 24 given at the club by Mr. and Mrs. Frank C. Kolb. Mr. and Mrs. J. Cummings Barr entertained Mr. and Mrs. Malcolm Humphreys.

Mrs. Moisant Griffith of Chicago and the Brazilian Court gave a dinner at which her guests were Dr. and Mrs. Chester H. Morris, Mr. and Mrs. Cyril J. Norton, Miss Joanna Fortune, and Countess Robert de Gennes. Mrs. S. Arlent Edwards' dinner party recently included Mr. and Mrs. William Voorhis Swords, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Silleck, Miss Ida Louise Tobey and Miss Shirley Bailey Silleck. Mr. and Mrs. Bennett Chapple were hosts to a group as were Mr. and Mrs. Boyd Watson.

Among others who have entertained at the club recently are Mr. and Mrs. Charles Strout Davis, Mr. and Mrs. F. Worthington Hine, Mr. and Mrs. James W. McGaughey, Mr. and Mrs. George D. Randall, Mr. Messmore Kendall, Mr. Edmund E. Allyne, Mr. Guy A. Thomas, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. James Abercrombie de Peyster and Mrs. Hill Orvis.

EMERALDS ACCENT WHITE: The vogue for white evening gowns has aroused new interest in emeralds as a jeweled accent, and Milton Fuller is displaying a set of these dazzling green gems which would lend prestige to any smart gown. The array consists of a gold necklace with pendulettes of gold and emeralds, a wide bracelet, earrings and a ring; gold studded with emeralds and accented with diamonds. Emeralds are equally lovely to dramatize all-black formal evening ensembles!

BLITHE SPIRIT: Has been transported from behind the footlights of Noel Coward's new comedy and is now making a dramatic entrance as an exciting new trend in make-up. Exploited by Elizabeth Arden! It is a pearlescent glow, lending a wonderful radiance to the skin by night and a luminous effect by day. It's all done with a new foundation, special rouge, Illusion face powder, cyclamen lipstick and bleu levande eye shadow.

SPRING FOOTNOTES: From Frank Bros. stress the popularity of navy blue kid, interpreted in open and closed toe pumps, with bows and buckles as a vamp trim. Red and cocoa brown are also popular spring shoe colors and the classic black patent leather pump has returned to the style picture—also black kidskin pumps with tiny bows of self-leather. Women engaged in civilian defense work will be interested in the British walkers; smart and comfortable and available in blue and black kid.

SHEER GABARDINE: Is the medium for the smart Bontwill gabardine week-ender ensembles by Bonwit Teller, comprising jacket, slacks and skirt. These thin as paper, ten-and-a-half ounce wool twills are synonymous with fine tailoring and chic. The trio mentioned and each piece may be purchased separately, come in such alluring tones as nude, Ming blue, robin's-egg and many other shades. Grand for the South; equally appropriate for the North. Smart for all-day wear!

METAL LACE: Is the inspiration for quaintly smart flower containers, and Seekins have them in varying sizes from miniature versions for the breakfast tray to ultra-large affairs for the luncheon table. They are painted white and you can choose your lace pattern from among a number of attractive designs. Ideal gifts, filled with colorful spring posies! A luxurious corsage—a huge white orchid; or several of these snooty flowers in green or bright yellow. And, they are all grown in Florida.

EYES ON EARS: Because all smart ears gleam and glisten with jeweled earrings this season. Greenleaf and Crosby have a dazzling collection and so extensive that your earring wardrobe for daytime and evening need not repeat itself for months. Miniature cornucopias of diamonds and rubies; stylized discs of the same precious jewels; bunches of cherries which are rubies and diamonds; gold leaves; flowers in three tones of gold; Creole hoops of gold; fluted gold discs; huge zircons bordered with pearls; are some of the smart ideas here.

SPRING BONNETS: In lady-bug red and mint green, are among the custom-made presentations of Maretta Feeley. Also much in evidence are chapeaux of poudre blue, taffy, white, hyacinth blue, navy blue. These appear in sailors, berets, pillboxes, forward-tilting calots, turbans; glorified with yards of veiling, bright flowers and straw bows. And in new straws, silk jersey, straw fabrics and patent leather. Chic toppings for your new spring ensembles!

Long torso: Is the theme in spring girdles. Christine, noted corsetiere, is designing these important figure controllers of a new chiffon elastic; lightweight and strong. They are trimmed with satin or brocade. Accompanying bras are made of satin and lace and also feature new lines. For women who prefer foundation garments; this chiffon elastic is the medium for long-torso lines; designed for figure-control plus comfort. Either version a grand companion for the new spring clothes; harmonizing lines in both!

TINTED STATIONERY: Is back! In sentimental pastel tints bordered in white or contrasting color; both the letter and notepaper sizes. The Anchorage has this new old-fashioned and smart inspiration for letter writing in such well-known brands as Crane's, Eatons, White & Wyckoff. They also have special airmail stationery in several smart varieties.

CHINESE INFLUENCE: An outstanding accessory for either the modern or period-styled interior is the lovely pale parchment breakfront with interesting Chinese designs in soft colors. The interior is done in turquoise; it is finished with a bronze grill. Made in America by Chinese workmen, and at Worrell's.

INDIVIDUAL ENSEMBLES: By Twyeffort, Inc., New York City, are the last word in smart stylings and original color themes. Ray Twyeffort is a pioneer in the exploiting of color for men and his distinguished clientele has been choosing bright colors for casual wear for years. Among the newest tones in relaxing jackets for spring are golf blue and maroon; colorful fabrics to give a change of personality.

Ballerina Moccasins: And Penthouse clogs are sponsored by Saks, Fifth Avenue, for daytime and formal evening. In the realm of evening versions, the high-platformed clogs are made of white satin with gold kid trim; dyed to match the gown. The new soft-soled moccasins are styled for both casual and formal evening wear—the chosen fabrics marking the distinction. For day, blue or luggage tan kid with white; for night, gold kid with white, black or red suede.

A BELMONT PRINT: In spring green, is the medium for a one-piece frock topped with a fitted linen coat of the same green in solid color, for a chic ensemble at Sandra Ann's. Gold buttons are the effective trim. Seashells in white and nude, printed on a medium blue background, is the chosen material for an attractive dress at the same shop. The accompanying coat is medium blue wool, lined with the print.

Naval officer's uniforms: In white, navy blue and khaki, are a specialty at Finchley's; these are custom-made. Entire outfits are also available, including hats, belts, shoes, ties, etc. This shop has long been noted for exclusive Hawaiian prints and a new array of native prints in robes and matching swim suits for men, includes white, poudre blue and bright shades, as a chic background for contrasting colors.

STAFFORDSHIRE FLOWERS AND BIRDS: In colorful themes are grand acquisitions for both Southern and Northern homes; to add a gay touch to walls, as luncheon table centerpieces, and to adorn occasional tables and desks. Figurines of varying sizes in the same lovely English ware, are equally effective as room or terrace decoration. At the William H. Plummer Shop. Also noted at this shop—a pair of old French candelabra of the Napoleonic period.

Jur

of Farewell

WHEREVER you may go . . . Wherever you may be . . . In the mind of every true American today there is only one question that counts: "How can I help America win the war?"

May We Suggest:

In all things be mild and correct.
Live conservatively, without waste, yet normally.
Be economical by buying good merchandise.
Keep healthy—eat wisely, and seek healthful recreation that gives release to mind, body and spirit.

If we have contributed to your comfort and enjoyment, during your stay in Palm Beach, it is, indeed, our good fortune.
